Our Earth Is Old
You Shall Not Sell
Marvelous Cow Machine
Copper Commonsense

By Arthur Brisbane

YOUR TEMPORARY ABODE, the earth, according to Dr. Kovarik, learned physicist of Yale, is far older than 6000 years, once the accepted age.

The real age, calculated with remarkable accuracy, based on the gradual disintegration of radio active substances, is one billion, eight hundred and fifty-two million years. That seems a long time to our feeble minds, but is less than a second in the eye of Father Time.

It is interesting to learn from from Prof. Osborne, of the Natural History Museum, that men have been living on earth, not for 6000 years, but for forty million years. And it is particularly encouraging to know that the life of our earth and our human life on it, which depends on the life of the sun, will last for many more BILLIONS of years.

Within 12,000 years men have moved up from the late Stone Age, with its sharp flints and bows and arrows, to this age of flying machines, wireless and submarines.

If men have done that in 12,000 years, what will they accomplish in the next one thousand years?

In that time, we might even stop murdering each other in war, swindling and oppressing each other in peace.

The government has said that California grape growers may legally sell the juice of grapes, concentrated or otherwise, provided they sell it before alcohol develops.

The grape growers are not held responsible for the laws of nature, which seem to have no sympathy with prohibition and turn innocent grape juice into wine, as the water was turned at the marriage feast of old.

But, what suits the national government, according to news from California and Chicago, does not suit the distinguished gangsters that enjoy a monopoly of bootleg whiskey and beer selling in Chicago.

Manufacturers of grape juice expected to sell great quantities in Chicago, the buyers to wait for nature to take her course and change the juice into wine.

But that cut down the demand for "needled" beer and "bath-tub" whiskey and gin. California's manufacturers of grape juice are told in plain, simple English by the head gangsters:

"If you try to sell any of that stuff in Chicago, somebody is going to be killed."

Farmers are interested in the "rotolactor" or "cow-milking-revolving table" used by the Walker Gordon Co in New Jersey. The cow walks onto a big table, which revolves slowly and continuously as a moving staircase. Entering her stall on the table, the cow is washed clean, and milked dry by machinery in 12 minutes, walks off the table, which holds 50 cows at a time, and goes back to her business of eating food and turning it into milk.

That is applying industrial methods to farming. Groups of farmers could own such a table co-operatively, producing certified milk much more cheaply than the ordinary germ laden milk can be produced by the farmer moving his milking stool from cow to cow in a dirty, dusty barn.

The copper companies, wisely, agree to stop cutting each other's throats by producing more copper than the world can use, thus demoralizing prices, which fall below cost of production, demoralizing employment.

Results are already seen in a stabilized market and copper selling at 11 cents, an improvement, although far below normal.

It is taken for granted that the government will not object to the arrangement or insist that producers shall continue reckless competition.

A more important question is this:

Will the companies hold together? Will copper men be able to do what the oil men vainly tried to do?

One mine can produce copper at one-half or two-thirds the production cost of another mine. One mine will have its copper cost reduced by a large silver by-product.

Will the more fortunate mines be content with their share of business and not try to get more by price cutting which they can afford and others can't afford?

Mr. George Eastman, intelligent, leading citizen of Rochester, N. Y., makes millions rapidly and gives them away usefully.

To the city of Paris he has offered $1,000,000 to build a dental clinic for school children under 16 years old.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 15 (INS)—Despite muggy weather, a capacity crowd of nearly 25,000 turned out this afternoon to watch Dartmouth and Cornell engage in their fourteenth battle.

Dartmouth went into the game a favorite. The Big Green team has not been beaten this year and has been tide only by Yale while Cornell has had a bad year, suffering a beating at the hands of Columbia, which fell before Dartmouth by a 54 to 0 score.

Dartmouth holds the edge on Cornell in their battles to date, having won eight and lost five.

FIRST PERIOD

A pass by Wolff was intercepted by Viviano. After a series of rushes, Cornell made first down on the Green's 48-yard line and then to the 30-yard stripe where the ball was lost on downs.

Unable to gain, Dartmouth punted deep into Cornell territory. Cornell was forced to punt and the ball went to the Dartmouth 23-yard line. Morton fumbled and Joe Martinez-Orilla recovered on the 22-yard line.

Viviano made six in two smashes at the line. After a penalty a 40-yard pass, Handelman to Beyer, went for a touchdown. Hunt failed in the attempt for goal.

Score: Cornell, 6; Dartmouth, 0.

Lindy May Postpone South America Trip

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 15 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh expressed doubt today that he would be able to make his proposed trip to South America this winter.

"Mrs. Lindbergh and I wish to visit countries in South America we have not yet seen,' the aviator said. "We have decided upon making the trip, but have no definite plans."

Reports that he would be a counter-attraction to the Prince of Wales, who soon will visit the South American continent, amused the colonel.

'Red' Cagle Released as Grid Coach

Starkville, Miss., Nov. 15 (INS)—Christian Keener ("Red") Cagle was given is release as head football coach at Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College today by President Hugh Critz.

Cagle, now in Birmingham with the A. and M. team, which will play Auburn today, will relinquish his duties with the conclusion of this afternoon's game.

He will go to New York to play with the New York Giants, a professional football team.

HARVARD-B. C. GAME PLANNED

Mayor Curley is trying to arrange a post-season football game between the Harvard and Boston College elevens for the benefit of the unemployd. It was learned today. When questioned about a report to that effect the mayor admitted it was true.

In his belief a Harvard-Boston College game, played at the Stadium, would draw a capacity crowd and the proceeds would be of great aid in relieving distress among the unemployed this winter.

When a Harvard-Princeton post-season game for charity was suggested by others several days ago, Graduate Manager William J. Bingham of Harvard said the university's policy forbade contests after the regular season was ended.

Inasmuch as that rule was made to prevent over-emphasis on football, Mayor Curley believes it might be waived under the present circumstances where the game would be a charitable affair and not a match for a mythical championship.

Mayor Curley said he had kept his efforts secret because he wished to see if any headway could be made before revealing them.

DETECTIVES AID IN WOODS HUNT FOR KAUFMAN

Sheriff Markham Denies Halt Threatened to Search by the Lack of Funds

Jackman, Me., Nov. 15—Private detectives and insurance investigators are expected here momentarily to aid in the search for Mitchell B. Kaufman, president of the Converse Rubber Co. of Malden, Mass., who has now been missing 11 days in the great north woods.

Sheriff Elton Markham flew back to Crocker's Pond today, and from there denied the report that lack of funds was threatening to halt the search.

"More than 500 men are on the payroll and are on the job scouring the woods right now," he said. "I know nothing of a strike because of lack of money to pay them with."

These men are deep in the woods with emergency rations to carry them through several days. A large part of them are Canadians working from the border toward Crocker's Pond.

For the second consecutive day a specially picked force of 100 men took up the search in the woods on the west side of the pond.

The importance placed on this phase of the search indicates the growing strength of the theory that Kaufman never got far from where he was last seen and that his body lies near there in the woods.

It was learned here that members of the missing executive's family have consulted Pinkerton officials and have, it is said, arranged for detectives to come here. Investigators for insurance companies in which Kaufman held policies totaling $400,000, are said to be on their way.

NO DEFINITE TRAIL.

Palmer Stadium, Princeton, N. J., Nov. 15—Yale and Princeton, football rivals since 1873, clashed here this afternoon under dismal conditions—lowering skies and intermittent sprinkles of rain.

The light drizzle, following a heavy downpour earlier in the day, was a "break" for Princeton, and had the effect of cutting down the betting odds from 3 to 1 on Yale to almost even money.

Princeton, the decided "under dog," was conceded a chance to spring a stunning surprise as a result of the soggy gridiron. Given a dry field, Yale, with its Albie Booth and other sparkling ball-carriers, figured to be three touchdowns better than Princeton, which has had the most disastrous season in its history.

FIRST PERIOD

Princeton kicked off to Crowley, who came back 15 yards to midfield. Yale punted but the ball was brought back and Princeton penalized 15 yards for holding. Crowley and Booth smashed the line for four yards. Yale punted over the goal line and the ball was in Princeton's possession on their 20-yard line.

Yale then got a "break." On the first play, James, Princeton back, fumbled and Barres recovered for Yale on the 15-yard line. After two plays Booth dropped back to the 20-yard line and booted a beautiful field goal, right between the posts.

Score—Yale 3, Princeton 0.

Page & Shaw Head and Brokers Are Guilty

Otis E. Dunham, president of Page and Shaw Inc., and the two brokers who directed the $2,000,000 stock issue for his firm were found guilty of conspiracy to steal, at 4:15 this morning, after the jury which heard the famous "candy trial" deliberated for 15 hours.

The brokers are Isaac Hart and Joseph Pollay, partners in the firm of Hart and Pollay.

Eight other persons, including Raymond Holland, head of the Holland Far East Co., tea and coffee dealers, and seven salesmen were found not guilty on the same charge. The seven salesmen who were acquitted are Harry Sternberg, Harry Jaspon, Harry Antick Samuel Schwab, Percy E. Powers Lewis E. Blankenberg and Philip Pollay.

All the defendants were in the courtroom in Middlesex Superior Court this morning when the verdict was delivered.

TO BE SENTENCED MONDAY

Because of the hour, however Judge Harold Williams, who presided at the trial, postponed imposition of sentence until Monday.

A second indictment accusing Hart, Dunham, Pollay and Holland with being accessories before the fact to larceny from Rev J. Louis M Levesue also was considered by the jury and a not guilty verdict

CLARA'S AIDE DENIES THEFT

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15 (INS)—Flatly denying allegations made by Dist. Atty. Buron Fitts that she had admitted taking $35,000 of Clara Bow's property, Miss Daisy Devoe, former private secretary of the screen star commented today on the latest phase of her dispute with Miss Bow.

"I made no confession," she declared.

Fitts last night announced Miss Devoe had made a 30-page admission of an alleged theft of $35,000 from the motion picture actress.

Both Miss Bow and her former secretary are to be subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury Tuesday when the district attorney's report on the dispute will be placed before that body.

By BILL GRIMES

Holy Cross and Harvard met for their fifteenth gridiron encounter in a rain soaked stadium today. A crowd estimated at 35,000 fans shivered in their seats, momentarily expecting a downpour from the lowering clouds over the stadium.

A stiff east wind blew over the wooden stand end of the big horseshoe. Holy Cross 60-piece band, dressed in purple and white, paraded on the field as the two teams warmed up. This, with Harvard's crimson and white musical troupe, was the single bit of color in one of the drabbest gatherings seen in years.

A series of forward passes in the first period brought Holy Cross the first score. The last of the series was from O'Connell to Capt. Garrity, of Jamaica Plain. Another forward failed to produce the point after touchdown.

FIRST PERIOD

Ticknor kept his record clean when he lost the toss and Capt. Garrity of Holy Cross chose to defend the goal at the wooden stands of the bowl and Holy Cross received the kickoff. Ticknor kicked to O'Connell, who was thrown on H. C. 27-yard line by Kales. O'Connell made 3 yards through Harvard left tackle. O'Connell punted to Mays, who was brought down on

DO-X HOPS TO BORDEAUX AFTER NIGHT CRUISE OVER SEA

THOUSANDS HAIL CRAFT AT FINISH

Passengers Remain Aboard as the Fog and Darkness Force Sky Leviathan Down

Bordeaux, France, Nov. 15 (INS)—One hour after leaving its all-night sea anchorage off La Rochelle, the German air-liner DO-X, carrying 11 passengers and a crew of 13, alighted on the Gironde river here at 1 p m. (8 a. m., E. S. T.) today.

Curious thousands lined the banks of the river to witness the mammoth ship's arrival, which completed the third leg of its projected flight to the United States.

Bordeaux was fully prepared to extend the air liner an enthusiastic welcome. Municipal officials were on hand to greet them, while the thousands who had been waiting since early morning to view the arrival bore witness to the popular interest in the aerial argosy of the world's largest heavier-than-air flying craft.

The 12-motored air liner had been forced by fog and darkness to descend on the ocean near Sables D'Clonne at 6 o'clock last evening. The ship then taxied 50 miles further southward, where a calm anchorage was found between La Rochelle and the small fortified island of Re.

The passengers, who remained aboard the ship during the night, had been anxious to continue the flight, which started from Calshot aerodrome, England, shortly before noon yesterday.

SCHOOL FUNDS ARE SOUGHT

The New England Association of School Superintendents, closing its annual convention yesterday in the Gardner auditorium of the State House, passed a resolve requesting the New England Council to use its influence to obtain adequate funds for support of a progressive program of public school education in the New England states.

In its pledge of co-operation with the council's program the convention reminded the council that "New England depends more on human than material resources, and the development of the human resources depends chiefly on education."

Officers were elected as follows: President, Supt. Charles F. Towne of Providence; vice-president, Hector L. Belisle of Fall River, and secretary-treasurer, S. Howard Chace of Beverly. Directors chosen were Frank D. Rowe, Warren, Me.; Lyman C. Hunt, Burlington, Vt., and Irwin B. Griffin, Litchfield, Ct.

Sparks From Pipe Causes $6000 Fire

Worcester, Nov. 15—Sparks from a pipe Fred H. Granger was smoking set fire to a two-story cottage on Humes ave. here today and caused between $5000 and $6000 damage to the structure before the blaze could be extinguished.

Granger, who lives with his son, James A. Granger, and family, at the Humes ave. house, rushed from the home after it had caught fire. His son saw smoke pouring from the windows and returned to bring his family to safety.

Newburyport, Nov. 15—The fishing schooner Dave Sears, with 40,000 pounds of fish aboard, went aground off Plum island last night and was floated today by Coast Guards. Capt. Jose Sears laid the grounding to a faulty compass. The vessel was not damage and proceeded to Gloucester.

Homesteading Rush Started by Democrats

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

The Democrats have promised not to embarrass this administration.

We thought it was the Republicans who were doing that.

Senators Robinson and Watson have cancelled their partisan reservations and will assist the President. They must want tickets to the Army-Navy game.

Senator Glass is willing to cooperate on any legislation that will promote public welfare. That must mean at least six more amendments.

But, being a true Democrat, Senator Glass refuses to become a happy little egg rolling on the White House lawn.

Congress is going to be a very quiet spot without the filibusters leaping from branch to branch and uttering the quaint cries of their species.

And in the meantime the shade of Jefferson is singing, "I wonder what became of that old gang of mine?"

show Kaufman's trail any further than a mile from the tote road where he separated from his companion while deer hunting on November 5, planning to join him again soon afterward.

Myer L. Orlov, Boston attorney and one of the hunting party, who went to Boston last night, returned to Maine today, and it is understood that an agreement to maintain silence has been made among all Kaufman's associates, with J. J. Sindler, an official of the rubber company, who is at Crocker's Pond, appointed their official spokesman.

It is said that members of Kaufman's family now believe that he may have been accidentally killed and his body lying in the woods near where he was last seen.

All clues found up to the present time have been thoroughly investigated and discarded. At present it seems that, if Kaufman is still alive, he has made his way out of the section which is being searched.

Books of the Converse company were audited just before Kaufman disappeared, it was said last night, and the company was shown to be in favorable condition. Frederick R. Allen, treasurer of the company, refused to commit himself last night on a report that outside auditors were working on the company books at the present time.

BOAT CAPTURED IN RADIO RUM CONSPIRACY

Three Arrested and Liquor Is Seized on Dory Said to Be From Boston

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Trailed through rain and fog, the open sea dory Patricia was captured by a coast guard patrol in Gravesend Bay early today with its crew of three and 500 bags of bottled liquor valued by federal agents at $25,000.

Revenue officers said the Patricia's home port was Boston.

The seizure followed closely upon arrest last night of 15 men and a woman and the uncovering of liquor worth $116,000 in a drive against rum runners operating a fully equipped radio-directed smuggling syndicate.

Warrant Officer Craven led a squad of his men over the side of the dory with revolvers drawn. Seeing themselves covered the rum runners gave up without a fight.

The Patricia was towed to the barge office pier and the crew was brought ashore for questioning.

rendered. On this indictment, Holland was acquitted on a directed verdict.

The verdict marks the end of a case which started six weeks ago with 18 defendants. Of the 18, six have pleaded guilty and are awaiting disposition of their cases, one was dismissed when the indictment against him was nol prossed, and eight were cleared by the jury's verdict this morning.

Dist.-Atty. Robert T. Bushnell, who prosecuted the case recommended to the court this morning that the case of the six salesmen who pleaded guilty be filed. These defendants are: Benjamin Finn, Samuel Finn, Jacob Stanton, Louis Natelson, Michael Gordon, and David Sager.

The case against James J. O'Malley, also a stock salesman, was nol prossed.

The case went to the jury at 1:15 p. m. yesterday after Judge Williams' charge, which lasted three hours. The jurors took with them the books of Page & Shaw, the books of Hart & Pollay and the literature used in selling stock.

While the jury deliberated, Dunham, president of the candy concern, and the 10 other defendants sat with their counsel or roamed through the corridors awaiting a verdict.

Judge Williams retired to his lobby and remained until 6 p. m., when he left for an hour. Later in the evening he left for his home in Brookline, but returned around midnight when the jury requested further instruction.

Dist. Atty. Robert T. Bushnell, who prosecuted the case, remained at his office in the courthouse and the battery of defense counsel were also on hand.

The indictments were returned at a special session of the Middlesex County grand jury in May. The Department of Public Utilities banned the sale of Page & Shaw stock in Massachusetts in December, 1929.

'BOSSY' NAMES HIS 70 FOES TO AID JOBLESS

Charged With Lack of Unemployment Relief, He Lists Them to Solve Problem

Newburyport, Nov. 15—Mayor Andrew J. ("Bossy") Gillis uncorked a dazzling offensive and scored heavily on his opponents today in real, old-fashioned "Bossy" Gillis style.

He chuckled as he did it and even a few of those he hit at had to admit, with wry smiles, that he was ahead of his political enemies by at least a couple of touchdowns.

It seems that His Honor awoke today smarting under an attack leveled at him yesterday in a local newspaper, in which he was rapped for taking no action to relieve unemployment.

"Well," said he, taking up his pencil, "I'll fix 'em."

In short order he had written down the names of all his political enemies and appointed them to an unemployment committee, charged with the duty of solving the problem.

THEIR NEXT MOVE

"Seventy of them," he said, as he finished. "Now, they've got the ball. Let's see what they can do with it."

He had invitations prepared and informed his committee that the first meeting would be at 8 p. m. Monday at City Hall.

First on the list he named Fred E. Smith and Everett E. Hicken, owners of the paper which criticised him, as chairman and vice-chairman. Miss Theresa Cuffe, an employe of the paper, he made another vice-chairman.

Fred E. Green, executive secretary, "at home, unemployed"; William W. Haywood, treasurer, "unemployed, insurance broker"; Herbert E. Simmons, "drawbridge executive and clam merchant"; William Hicke, prohibitionist and Y worker"; Joshua A. Cahoon, "clam expert and service man."

4 COUNCILLORS LISTED

"Strong for the unemployed," wrote "Bossy" after the names of several on his list, including four city councillors, who opposed his order for a bond issue of $100,000 for public improvements.

These four councillors are Moses E. Wright, Jr., Arthur Smith, William Peebles and Eugene Twomey. After Wright's name, the mayor also noted: "Salesman, traffic expert and fire spark."

2 From Navy Yard Hurt in Auto Crash

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 15—Two men were injured, one seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding in the local navy yard grounds crashed into a pole today. The injured are R. E. Students Strike at 11 P.M. Co-ed Curfew

Bozeman, Mont., Nov. 15 (AP)—A student strike, marked by tear gas bombs and campus pickets, disturbed the academic calm of Montana State College today. Leaders of the strike asserted it would continue until their demands were met. Disaffection in the student body originated when Una B. Herrick, dean of women, issued an order compelling co-eds to be in dormitories or sorority houses by 11 p. m. week-end nights, instead of 2:15 a. m., the former regulation.

Sallies to Get Proceeds of Army-Navy Grid Clash

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—West Point and Annapolis officials announced after a conference today that the proceeds of the Army Navy football game in New York on December 13 will go to the Salvation Army for the benefit of the unemployed.

The lowest price seat will be $5. Major Fleming, Army graduate manager of athletics, said the highest price to be charged for seats had not been decided.

The proceeds are expected to exceed $500,000. They will be used for the benefits of the unemployed generally.

There will be no free tickets, save those which go to the Army and Navy, the others will be handled by the Salvation Army.

Army in Row With Whalen Over Stadium

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 15 (AP)—While authorities representing the two academies in Washington announced agreement for the Army Navy post-season football game receipts to go to the Salvation Army West Point revealed early differences over arrangements with Grover Whalen, former New York police commissioner.

Army officials, seeking to exercise full control of the game, declared Whalen, in a telephone conversation today, had declined to yield to West Point his option on the use of the Yankee Stadium. Army has an option on the use of the Polo Grounds.

HOOVER LAW COMMISSION REPORTED AGAINST REPEAL OF DRY LAW

BEER PLAN ALSO TO BE REJECTED

Report Nearly Ready for President Does Not Urge Repeal

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Repeal of the eighteenth amendment has been definitely discarded by President Hoover's law enforcement commission as a solution of the present prohibition problem.

The commission members today had reached certain tentative conclusions—all of them subject to change—as to what they believe should be done to improve the situation surrounding the dry law. Such an eventuality as repeal, however, was not included among them.

An authoritative denial has been entered, also, to the oft-repeated rumors that the commission as a whole will recommend four per cent beer, or that it will urge a national referendum to determine sentiment on the prohibition law.

STILL A MYSTERY

Whether a final agreement will be reached on some plan to strengthen the present system or whether some form of modification will be urged, however, remained a question which only the 11 members of the commission could answer, and the secret was guarded with the same care that has surrounded all their 17 months of prohibition deliberation.

Word has come from within the commission ranks, nevertheless, that these 17 months of investigation have uncovered "astounding" things and that "there will be no pussyfooting" in the forthcoming dry law report.

From certain members also has come assurance that the report surely can be laid on President Hoover's desk by Jan. 1, and probably before.

While members of the commission, in recess until Nov. 24, continued informally the work of preparing the report, another attack was made on the Republican party leadership of Senator Fess of Ohio, because of his dry stand.

Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, last night said Fess should immediately resign as chairman of the party's national committee, turning management of the Republican machine over to "some one who properly can sense public opinion."

Earlier in the day the Ohio senator had been defended for his position by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa. Coincidentally with the Britten statement, a prediction came from Dr. Arthur J. Barton, chairman of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League, that the drys in Congress will not agree to submit an Eighteenth Amendment repeal proposal to the states.

Hoover and Wife to Open Nursery for 3 Babies

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—The halls of the White House soon again will echo to childish voices and a real nursery will have to be established there.

For three little Hovers, Peggy Ann, Herbert 3d and Joan, children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr., are being prepared for a transcontinental journey, with "grandfather's house" as its objective.

The President's wife is in Asheville with her son Herbert, who is winning back his health in a mountain retreat, while her daughter-in-law has gone to California to get the children.

The wee three will come to Washington and probably stay. And since the children's mother has been devoting her time to her husband, it is likely that President Moover and his wife will have a chance to assume a parental role again.

Peggy Ann is an interesting, observant little girl of four, with blue eyes and slightly curly light hair.

Herbert 3d, called Peter by the home folk, has grown to be a big boy—as large as Peggy Ann—and quite capable of taking care of himself.

So it's Joan, born last spring, the most fuss will be made about. Joan is so very tiny she will require a real nursery regime, with all the other scientific formulae that the experts will recommend at President Hoover's own child health and protection conference.

The White House is an ideal home for children. There's a pleasant third story, seldom seen by visitors, where boys and girls can play to their hearts' content.

'Mr. Glad,' Rival to John D., Gives Nickels to Jobless

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, with his dimes, has a cut rate rival with nickels who, under the pollyanna sobriquet of "Mr. Glad," feeds the floating poor.

He has stood near the corner of Lafayette and Leonard sts. every day for a week now, this "Mr. Glad," his pockets bulging with the buffalo faced coins; a kindly old gentleman of distinguished mien, dressed in light tweed with a gray hat and dark glasses.

At first some folk thought it was a publicity stunt, but the empty pockets were not curious as to the source of the shiny charity, for a nickel means coffee and a roll whether it comes in a wrapper of philanthropy or advertising.

Each man gets a circular, which says:

"The amount I give you is small, but it will get you a cup of coffe or tea and a roll, and I am glad to do this because my heart is filled with gratitude."

The circular adds "Mr. Glad" was given up for dead six years ago, and suffered the loss of his entire fortune. The nickel charity had been undertaken, he said, in gratitude for the recovery of both his health and his fortune.

A thousand nickels are given away each day.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 15 (AP)—Nelson C. Bowles, 54, capitalist, and Mrs. Irma Loucks Paris, 25, his former secretary, today were at liberty under $5000 bail each on statutory charges.

Under questioning in connection with the death of Mrs. Leone Bowles, who died from a knife wound in Mrs. Paris' apartment Wednesday, police said Bowles and Mrs. Paris admitted they stayed in the latter's apartment the night preceding the tragedy.

Mrs. Paris and Bowles maintained Mrs. Bowles stabbed herself. Dr. Earl Smith, coroner, said nearly all evidence indicated suicide.

Youth Hunted in $300,000 Gem Theft

Los Angeles, Nov. 15 (AP)—A soft spoken young man who wanted to "buy a diamond" was hunted by police today for the $300,000 robbery of a downtown jeweler's private office. The gem merchant, G. M. Reingold, was in a hospital suffering from laceration of the head. He was beaten into unconsciousness, bound and gagged with adhesive tape.

Quincy, Ill., Nov. 15 (INS)—The Quincy State Savings, Loan & Trust bank and three branches, with deposits of approximately $6,000,000, failed to open for business here this morning. The State Savings, Loan & Trust was reported to have $7,000,000 out in farm loans.

STRIKING MOBS BATTLE POLICE

Madrid, Nov. 15 (AP)—Rioting strikers battled with police in the streets today, smashing shop windows, overturning trolley cars and raising the cry of revolution.

Heads were cracked and faces slashed as mounted police charged time after time to break up vicious free-for-all fights.

Newspaper workers struck in sympathy and there will be no papers today or tomorrow. All public service workers joined the strike. Five thousand university students reinforced the rioters.

Foods stalls in the Central market were overturned and their produce ruined when the venders hesitated to throw in their lot with the strikers.

Hundreds of workers in the factories were forced to quit under threat of violence.

All this started two days ago when a building collapsed and killed four construction workers. At the funeral services yesterday what started out to be a peaceful protest against the erection of flimsy buildings turned out into a riot in which three persons were killed and about 75 injured.

Policeman Burned at Grease Tank Fire

Officer Neil Henderson of Station 15, Charlestown, was painfully burned today while attempting to extinguish a fire under a portable grease tank at a filling station in Alford st. His attention was called to the fire by a pedestrian and he tried to smother it before the arrival of the fire department.

Police found a grating had been broken and a window forced and believed that thieves had dropped a cigarette.

HARVARD READY TO FILM 'RAIN' OF METEORS

Curtain of Clouds Hide Spectacle on Friday; Better Results Expected Tonight

The famous Leonid meteor showers, observance of which was spoiled last night by the clouds, will be observed and photographed tonight by members of the Harvard observatory staff under Dr. Willard J. Fisher.

This year's Leonids are a secondary spectacle, the next "big show" coming next year. The meteors, to be seen in the eastern sky, are believed to have resulted from disintegration of a comet.

Three stations have been set up in greater Boston to observe this unusual meteoric phenomena.

Dr. Fisher declared today:

"Due to the cloudiness in the sky it was impossible to observe the current return of the Leonids which were due to start last evening. However, if weather conditions are favorable tonight, members of the Harvard Observatory and myself will make attempts to record all interesting data that will aid science, and also make photographs of the unusual spectacle.

"We also plan to keep close observations during the Leonid period between Nov. 14 and 17."

Dr. Fisher requested that amateur astronomers who obtain data on the "showers" send it to Flower Observatory, Upper Derby, Pa.

$60,000,000 TO AID CROPS IN DROUTH AREA

Administration Plans Loans to Farmers, Also Extra Federal Work

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—An appropriation of $60,000,000 for loans to farmers in 21 States (the drouth areas) with which to buy seed, fertilizer and other necessaries for next year's crops is planned by the administration.

The measure will be presented to Congress when it convenes in short session on Dec. 1, probably by Senator McNary (R.), Oregon, chairman of the agriculture committee.

This legislation, together with bills to expand the Government building program in the interests of relieving unemployment, will command first attention of the Congress.

How far President Hoover will recommend that the public works be expanded is uncertain. He is waiting until the Government's income is more definitely determined for this year.

However, there is talk of doubling the annual appropriation for public buildings from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000. Also consideration is being given to suggestions for increased federal aid in road construction.

This unemployment and drouth legislation appear to face clear tracks in both the Senate and House and may be disposed of before th Christmas recess.

Riddles of Life Growing Deeper, Says Einstein

Berlin, Nov. 15 (INS)—"The further we proceed, the more formidable are the riddles facing us!"

This was the statement made by one of the world's most profound thinkers, Prof. Albert Einstein, in the course of a lecture before a group of young German radicals here.

Answering questions put to him by members of the audience, Prof. Einstein, whose vaulting theories are far beyond the comprehension of the ordinary layman, confessed "mankind has not really gone very far in its search for knowledge."

He referred to one of the world's oldest puzzles, and admitted that he was not even able to tell which came first—the hen or the egg.

"Yet I am no pessimist," he declared. "Let us always remember that beauty is also truth."

Premier Hamaguchi Is Still in Danger

Tokyo, Nov. 15 (AP)—A slightly higher temperature at 100.8 degrees, Fahrenheit, reported in a bulletin today, warned the nation that Premier Hamaguchi was not yet out of danger from the pistol wound inflicted yesterday by a young extremist.

The villagers of Godaisan, in Kochi prefecture, birthplace of Premier Hamaguchi, assembled at the village Shinto shrine, and also in Buddhist temples, praying for the recovery of Godaisan's most illustrious son.

Dr. Holt Cites Faults of Collegiate Education

By NANCY BREWSTER

"The insatiable impulse to expand materially, the glorification of research at the expense of teaching, and the lack of human contacts between teacher and student," were outlined by Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of the Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., as the "three besetting sins" of American college and university life.

The present dissatisfaction among college students is too widespread not to be taken seriously, he told the Women's City Club at a dinner-meeting arranged in his honor at the clubhouse last night.

And if students complain that there is too little recognizable gain from the four years of undergraduate work as it is now carried on, consideration of the complaint should be given, he pointed out.

Introduced by Miss Frances Curtis, president of the Women's City Club, Dr. Holt immediately began his talk by outlining the chief faults with the American system of collegiate education.

EDUCATION IS DULL

"Education has become dull routine which only the exceptional student by his own short-cuts and delving can rise above," he said. "The cry is everywhere rising that the product of high education is a standardized one, in which the flame of individual initiative was often burned out.

"Expansion might have some justification as a means to an end," Dr. Holt explained, "but as the end itself it is a delusion, for it is nothing but a confusion of greatness with bigness. More students, the first result of an expansion program, do not necessarily mean better students."

GROWTH OF COLLEGES

Admitting certain advantages in "more numbers," he stated that "as the enrollment multiplies, the radio of the individual student to the whole tends to approximate a cipher."

He disparaged the phenomenal growth of some American colleges and the research mania which has overtaken professors.

"Happily, the realization seems to be growing that there are other measures of success besides the rate of expansion," he continued. "Consequently a few institutions are already beginning to limit enrollment. But, although the menace of wholesale growth is finally being appreciated, as another virus, the research mania continues to thrive and to receive encouragement.

COMPARES THE TWO

"There are two types of professors. The one derives his chief inspiration from learning, the other from life; the one goes in for research, the other for teaching. Strangely enough, the teacher-professors, the men who are primarily interested in teaching students rather than subjects, are usually not the ones who win promotions or calls from other colleges. Yet it is these rare souls who make the real impressions on the students."

Comparing the two systems of education, Dr. Holt pointed out that "if the recitation system is bad, the lecture system is worse. It assumes that what one man perhaps has taken a lifetime to acquire, succeeding only by dint of painstaking observation, long continued reflection and possibly the use of his creative imagination, can be relayed or spoon-fed to another who has not gone through a like process."

Three happy suggestions to meet the three great faults of American education were made by Dr. Holt.

LIMIT ON CLASS GROUPS

He would perfect and dignify the small college at a time when small colleges are trying to become large colleges and large colleges become universities.

He would choose teachers who love to teach, rather than do research or write books.

And he would institute the "two-hour conference plan," in which teacher and students are brought together under informal conditions for twice the usual length of class time, and abolish entirely the recitation and the lecture system.

He would limit class groups to 10.

Wheaton to Have Citizenship Class for Day, Dec. 2

Wheaton College at Norton is co-operating with the Massachusetts League of Women Voters for a one-day citizenship school to be held at the college Tuesday, Dec. 2. Announcement is made by the league president, Mrs. Mary Tenney Healy. Wheaton is the only college for women that has not heretofore been opened for a league school, and it is with particular pride and satisfaction that Mrs. Healy makes the announcement.

President John Edgar Park will open the school and members of the Wheaton faculty will participate in the program which is to consider women's relation to public questions with especial stress on the achievements of women in this field. The afternoon will be given to a study of electrical utilities with several eminent speakers.

Registration is open and all who are interested, men as well as women, may enroll at the league headquarters, 31 Mt. Vernon st., Boston.

Women Republicans Have Busy Week of Activities Coming

Starting with a tea in honor of its president, Miss Katherine Vose Parker, the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts has an interesting week of activities ahead of them.

Miss Parker will be feted on Monday at the clubhouse, receiving with Mrs. William M. Butler, first vice-president; Mrs. William H. Coolidge, second vice-president, and Mrs. Alexander Lincoln, director of activities, from 4 to 5:30, the women whom she guides as head of the most powerful Republican women's organization in the State.

Next Wednesday the club will play hostess at luncheon to four presidents of women's Republican clubs in nearby states. The women so honored and who will be introduced by Miss Parker include Mrs. Harold Gross, president of the Women's Republican Club of Rhode Island; Mrs. E. A. Harriman, president of the Washington Women's Republican Club; Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, president of the Women's National Republican Club of New York, and Mrs. George H. Lorimer, president of the Republican Women of Pennsylvania.

That evening, Mrs. Frederick E. Judd, director of the political department, will present Mrs. Jennie Loitman Barron, who will discuss "Behind the Scenes in a Political Campaign," a topic dealing with the humorous incidents occurring in campaign work. The program is scheduled for 8 p. m. at the clubhouse. A mock trial, entitled "A Case of Obesity," written by Mrs. Emma Fall Schofield, will be part of the program. This envolves about 30 characters, whom Mrs. Barron is directing in dramatic technique.

Mrs. Ida Porter Boyers will speak to the membership on current events next Thursday at the regular weekly political lecture at 11 a. m. at the clubhouse. Mrs. Judd is in charge of this program also.

Jewish Women to Entertain Visiting Secretary Monday

In honor of the visiting national secretary of the Council of Jewish Women, the Boston Section on Monday will hold its regular meeting at the Hotel Somerset, following a luncheon to Mrs. Estelle M. Sternburger of New York City. The guest will be the speaker of the afternoon at the general session to follow.

Mrs. Sternburger comes to Boston after an absence of 10 years. She comes with a message of importance from national headquarters to the Hub contingent. Mrs. I. K. E. Prager, a former president of the Boston Section and national recording secretary now, is hostess for the afternoon. A musical program is to be part of the entertainment.

As president of the Boston Section, Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. Theresa Cohen Whitman will preside and introduce the speakers.

St. Vincent Guild to Resume Weekly Whist and Bridge

St. Vincent's Orphan Guild resumes its weekly bridge and whist on Monday with Mrs. Agnes Miano of Somerville and Miss Anna King of Cambridge as hostesses. These weekly get-togethers bring the revenue that helps to support and maintain the Guild home at 45 Guyette rd., North Cambridge.

Again on Tuesday, at Guild headquarters, St. Rose Hall, 17 Worcester st., another party is scheduled and for this affair Mrs. Joseph Eichron, Guild president, has appointed Mrs. Henry Arnold, Jr., and Mrs. Stephen Courtney, chairman of the ways and means committee, to have charge.

The board of directors is to meet next Friday at St. Rose Hall to enjoy the entertainment and program arranged by Mrs. John H. F. Connor of Boston and Mrs. John Ohrebeger of West Roxbury.

Pyjama Dining Is the Newest Fad

By ANN ARDEN

THERE IS nothing reminiscent of grandmother's day in the latest fad for dinner pyjamas, and it is rather fun to find a mode that doesn't pretend to have ancestors! You may sweep to tea in a gown of Empire origin, you may dance in the aura of a Greek goddess—but you really should dine at home in the quite modern habiliment of dinner pyjamas.

THIS HALF frock, half trousered fashion is one of the gayest, most impractical and thoroughly delightful things that has happened in seasons. What is it like? Well, imagine your very loveliest satin or velvet dinner frock with its full skirt divided into trousers and you have it. Gardenias may grace your shoulder, a deep decolletage may show more than a square of back, a jeweled belt accent a high waistline even as in your evening frock, but to the ankle or floor you will be wearing jaunty legs.

THIS PYJAMA-DINNER idea originated in Paris, of course, but it will soon be a popular custom with all those moderns who enjoy debarking a bit from the too staid and conventional.

ONE MAY suppress one's individuality, one's extravagance, chic and daring in these delightful costumes, worn only among one's intimates. Originality and beauty are their excuses for being.

THE PYJAMA costume pictured has wide trousers of yellow satin, finished in circular ruffles. The small jacket of gold and silver lame is seamed to fit the waistline. Its tight sleeves are banded in Nutria dyed Lapin fur, as are the edges of the jacket, opening over vest of gold metal cloth. The more original the colors, the more elaborate the fabric, the more distinguished will be your costume.

MULES, BY their materials are suited for leisurely negligee moods and hostess occasions. There is a slipper of satin with sequins and tiny beads worked together. Another of two-tone lavender crepe, the lighter sections being outlined with gold. A third slipper, the hostess type, combining plain black kid and kid treated with gold to give the effect of lace. And a fourth slipper that is more like an afternoon shoe than any other, combining satin and moire.

BOSTON POLICE ALL AT SEA ON 'MURDER' CASE

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 15 (INS)—Unequivocal denial that Buddy Bruce, Philadelphia lightweight, was involved in a murder case in Boston had been made today at Bridgeton, N. J., by Capt. H. W. Letts following reports from here that Capt. Letts had requested certain boxing records in an effort to clear Bruce of charges in Massachusetts.

Capt. Letts, according to Mrs. Ruth Upton, assistant secretary of the state athletic commission, asked for the boxing records of Sept. 13, when Bruce fought in Millville, N. J.

Mrs. Upton said Capt. Letts told her Bruce was concerned in the investigation of a murder in Boston.

Capt. Letts when questioned concerning the matter said:

"I don't want to say anything about it. Call Monday or Tuesday and I will tell you all about it."

He said Bruce was not mixed up in the Boston murder, but somebody on the Milville fight card had been involved in it. Letts was to have taken the records to Boston last night.

Boston police said today they did not know what murder New Jersey authorities were talking about. No pugilists were involved in any recent murder cases here, police said. Capt. H. W. Letts of Bridgeton, N. J., has not been here, neither have the Boston police heard from him, they said.

Chazeaux Hospital Is Doomed by Landslide

Lyons, France, Nov. 15 (AP)—Tottering on the brink of the crater made by landslides down the side of Fourviere Hill, the old Chazeaux Hospital threatened at every moment today to collapse and overwhelm with fresh disaster the luckless St. Jean quarter.

Large cracks had appeared in the facade of the building and a military searchlight kept focussed all night on the precipice on which it rests revealed constantly slipping soil beneath the building.

Workmen were engaged in shoring up the sides of the hill in a desperate effort to prevent further serious sliding, but their work was hampered by their own danger.

Passenger Pays Ride He Stole 18 Yrs. Ago

Parker's Landing, Pa., Nov. 15 (AP)—A man who beat his way on a train from West Monterey to East Brady 18 years ago has just paid his fare because his conscience troubled him.

Walking into the station here, he asked the price of a ticket between those points. The agent said 34 cents and passed him a ticket.

"Never mind that," the customer said, counting out the money, "I took the ride back in 1912 on the blind baggage and my conscience has bothered me ever since."

BRAE-BURN AIDS UNEMPLOYED

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Plans for providing employment aids outside the actual limits of crowded cities, and at the same time giving a lift to the nation's golfers, were cited today by Chairman Woods of the President's emergency employment committee.

Colonel Woods showed a letter from the Brae Burn Country Club, near Boston, which announced plans for clearing away underbrush from its woods and eliminating useless hazards during the winter.

"We are eliminating unused traps and mounds at this time, employing 22 men for this purpose, who otherwise would not have work," the letter said.

Colonel Woods said the National Family Welfare Association had offered co-operation advancing plans for its 240 local societies in more than 200 cities.

Mayor Curley's proposal that the government spend a billion dollars for development of the Mississippi river is the one recommendation for unemployment relief that illustrates common sense, said Traffic Comr. Joseph A. Conry today in an address to the convention of National Woolen and Worsted Overseers at the American House.

"Mayor Curley's suggestion to the President that a billion dollars be expended on great improvements along the Mississippi river received national attention. Had the President immediately accepted this suggestion, its beneficial effect would have been instantaneous," he said."

King of Jazz Faints as He Sees Ghost of Siegfried

London, Nov. 15 (AP)—Herman Darewski, who wears a crown in the kingdom of jazz, was perturbed today because what he thought was the ghost of Siegfried, Richard Wagner's hero-child, appeared as he played last night for a ball at Covent Garden.

Unnerved and shaken, the composer, who has seen the English-speaking world stumble over his "K-K-Katy," and dream over his "Whispering," wondered what retribution Valhalla, Wagner's warrior heaven, would demand for modern music's cacophonous and syncopated sins against the stately rhythms of another day.

As Darewski's baton marked the measures of a modern waltz in the Covent Garden Arena last night, the composer-conductor noticed that the drummer had dropped his sticks and was staring wide-eyed across the hall. Darewski turned, and saw, he said, emerging from the wall, a nebulous ghostly figure which, at first, he thought to be an illusion created by a rotating ball of shimmering mirrors in the center of the ceiling.

The illusion shaped itself, Darewski avers, into an armed, helmeted figure, which glided majestically over the heads of the dancers and then faded mysteriously into nothing. To Darewski the figure seemed to be an apparition of Siegfried, hero grandson of Wotan, who, in Wagner's opera, awakens fair Brunhilde from a fire-encircled bed.

BAND STOPS PLAYING.

The conductor's baton stopped, and he, through shock, collapsed into a chair which stood beside the podium. The band ceased in its waltz music, and the dancers, amazed, and thinking Darewski ill, flocked toward him.

"As I gazed and the figure took the shape of an armed warrior, Darewski is quoted by the Daily Express as saying, "I felt weak from the shock, members of my band crowded around me and two of them, startled as I was, told me they also had seen the apparition. The dancers stared in amazement when the band stopped playing and flocked toward me, thinking me ill. At that moment the floating figure, which had almost reached the stage door, floated away."

At this point the composer wiped his forehead, continuing: "I scarcely can speak clearly of what I saw. I still am shaken and unnerved.

RUMORS OF GHOSTS.

"It was lucky the dancers were looking at me when the music ceased and not at the back of the hall. I fear that if they had seen what I saw there would have been a panic."

It has been a rumor for more than a century that the Covent Garden Theater is haunted, but the ghost usually reported was that of the famous playwright, Sheridan, whose appearance is said to coincide with some important incident. The Drury Lane Theater and the Haymarket Theater also reputedly house ghosts.

Darewski is one of the most widely-known composers of modern music. The British Who's Who uses nearly two-thirds of a column to list his musical works, which include such hits known in America as "Flora," "Irene," "Razzle-Dazzle," "When We've Wound Up the Watch on the Rhine," "K-K-Katy" and "Whispering."

DRY MAN QUITS IN DISGUST

New Haven, Nov. 15 (AP)—Edwin S. Raffile, prohibition agent in charge of the New Haven district for eight years, yesterday sent his resignation to Robert L. Sengle, deputy prohibition administrator of Connecticut. He will enter business.

Mr. Sengle said today he had accepted the resignation with regret as Mr. Raffile had been very efficient and without a mark on his record.

Mr. Raffile, commenting on his withdrawal, said he had been "fed up on prohibition" and did not want to hear the word again. He said his conclusions were that prohibition cannot be enforced.

BRITAIN HEEDS JEWISH PLEA

London, Nov. 15—The British Government, as a result of worldwide protests of Jewry against the recent White paper regarding British policy in Palestine, today agreed to treat with Jewish representatives regarding interpretation of the Palestine mandate.

The government officially stated:

"Doubts having been expressed as to the compatibility of some passages of the White paper of October 21 with certain articles in the Palestine mandate, and other passages which have been proved liable to misunderstanding, the government has invited representatives of the Jewish agency for Palestine to confer with them on these matters.

"As the parties to the mandate are strongly desirous of securing its correct interpretation and impartial administration, it is hoped agreement may be reached on any points of difference, when a further statement concerning these issues will be made."

'LOST' HUSBAND AND WIFE IN A NEW MYSTERY

After staging another disappearance today, but this titme with his wife, Edward Rush, Lynn man who returned yesterday to the bosom of his family after a 34-year absence, returned again to his Brownville ave., Lynn, home.

Mary Ellen Harnon, daughter of the couple, said she had heard her mother and newly-found father walking around the house at 5 a. m. When she arose later she found that both had disappeared and left no word of their destination.

When the couple returned home at noon they refused to state where they had gone at that early hour.

SECOND WIFE DEAD

Rush's reunion with his family in Lynn yesterday was a joyous affair, but the news from Baltimore, where the wandering husband is reported to have established a lucrative buisness, cast a shadow today.

Neighbors in Baltimore disclosed that there had been another Mrs. Rush living at the little home at 1826 Riggs ave. until her death four weeks ago. Inquiry at the Baltimore health department revealed that a Mrs. Ann Rush, 62, of the Riggs ave. address and whose husband's name was Edward, died on October 17.

REFUSES TO COMMENT

Rush, according to dispatches, had been living at the Riggs ave. address for 20 or 22 years, and neighbors were quoted as stating that the Baltimore Mrs. Rush was often heard to call her husband Ted, a name by which the Lynn Mrs. Rush is said to have addressed him when he convinced her yesterday that her long lost husband had returned.

Rush, then a carpenter, left his home in East Cambridge on Sept. 17, 1896, ostensibly to go to work on the new warehouse they were building in the Back Bay and failed to return.

The only reason he [illegible] into the home of his wife at 2[illegible] Brownville ave., Lynn, after the long separation, was that he wasn't very busy in Baltimore and a trip to Boston—$6.86 less than the regular train fare—made him wonder if his daughters were still alive.

Both Mrs. Rush and her husband thought each other dead.

Mr. Rush is now 64 years old and his wife is 63.

Reds in China Said to Have Slain 2000

Hongkong, Nov 15 (AP)—An unverified report from Canton today said Communists retreating from Kian, Kiangsi Province, had passed through the town the Hsinpu, which they put to the sword and set afire, killing some 2000 men women and children.

Two thousand houses were set afire in the raid. Some 5000 more of the inhabitants were carried off for ransom by the Reds, and approximately $2,000,000 (gold) damage was done acocrding to the report.

Vermont Grand Jury Resumes Death Probe

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 15 (AP)—The special grand jury of Washington County, called following the murder of Birney Pecor of Roxbury, last Monday night, resumed its session today. Ten witnesses were heard yesterday. It was expected the purported confession of Elvin Wheeler, of Williamstown, that he shot Pecor after Pecor's wife told him of abuse by her husband, would be introduced.

Radio Burglar Keeps Police on Jump in Providence

Providence, Nov. 15 (INS)—Extra police detail was posted in the Elmwood section of Providence today in an attempt to capture the so-called "radio burglar" who police claimed committed three robberies last night and more than 40 over a period of six weeks. Jewelry, clothing, furnishings to the value of several thousand dollars have been stolen, police said.

Police dubbed the robber the "radio burglar" because he invariably enters the rear part of he house while the occupants are in front listening to a radio set.

When your vital organs fail to perform their work correctly—your bowels and kidneys can't throw off that waste material—before you realize it—you're growing hideously fat!

Take one half teaspoonful of KRUSCHEN SALTS in a glass of hot water every morning—do not overeat and—in three weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—your eyes sparkle with glorious health—you feel younger in body—keener in mind. KRUSCHEN will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

Get an 85c bottle of KRUSCHEN SALTS from any leading druggist anywhere in America (lasts 4 weeks). If this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health — so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

SEENA OWEN TURNS THE TABLES

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

IF THE SIGNS of these perilous times point to anything, the theater is definitely drifting toward the drama of square jaws and snarling teeth, with a dash of ghastly mystery tossed in for good measure. The current example of the playgoer's trend may be discovered in "The Blue Ghost" and its nightly terrors at the Majestic. It is the last word in drama of horror.

Nicholas Young

THERE IS MORE than a bit of supplementary flavor to "The Blue Ghost." This is discovered in its desperate and often bedevilled heroine. For this object of interest and admiration the playgoer may meet an old friend of the screen—Seena Owen. The talented lady of Hollywood completely upsets your previous notion of the silver sheet's stately beauties. She has a voice that rings clear; she possesses acting qualities that at first surprise and then bewilder you with their calm understanding of what makes a rather futile role stand out with fine dramatic authority. You had not expected so much and, of course, were promptly brought to attention.

IT IS NOW MORE than possible that in the exchange of talents between the legitimate drama and the film colony, the theater has gathered its own share of faculty in the spoken arts. Miss Owen, with not an abundance of material for dramatic expression seems to have established herself securely as a film favorite totally unintimidated by the exacting demands of the speaking stage. This is not surprising to those who have had any knowledge of Miss Owen's career. While her artistic triumphs generally have been by the way of the camera, there were days when the most famous of all stock companies in America claimed her as its most popular member. It is no novelty for Miss Owen to read dramatic lines, for she once gave them full voice at the Alcazar Theater in San Francisco, from which temple many of the most brilliant players of America's stage have emanated.

IF THERE IS ANY wide difference between the players of Hollywood and those of the Broadway stage, we should say that mostly it is a matter of environment, mechanics and technique. A good actor is always just that—nothing more, nothing less. Whether it is a camera that registers his emotion and his expression, or an eager audience viewing him in the flesh, it cannot make so much difference if the talent is unmistakable. An understanding artist, a player of experience, can adjust himself to the demands of the moment. Upon this rigid test Miss Owen has scaled the battlements. Probably it was an easy job—and most of us still think it Herculean.

WHILE THE SONOROUS screen has pilfered right and left from the legitimate theater, the score is not at all one sided. In the legitimate's reprisals Seena Owen must be regarded as the brightest and fairest prize.

Man Proposes, But the Drama Always Lets the Woman Dispose of Him as She Will

SEENA OWEN AND ALLEN FRANKLIN

SELENA ROYAL

MADGE KENNEDY AND TERENCE NEILL

MISS KENNEDY makes a show of opposition to Mr. Neil's proposal, and he is telling her to calm down and accept. Miss Kennedy is star of "Michael and Mary" at Plymouth.

POLATSCHEK SOLOIST AT SYMPHONY

By MOSES SMITH

Two items on this week's program of the Boston Symphony Orchestra were of more than ordinary interest. One was the appearance of the new first clarinetist, Victor Polatschek, in the performance of Mozart's Concerto for Clarinet, an instrument not often heard nowadays in extended solos.

Much of this piece is artificial, as if tossed off by Mozart for a friendly virtuoso. Yet the music is never tiresome, and in the slow movement, quite beautiful. With a remarkably subdued accompaniment behind him, Mr. Polatschek justified (though he did not quite explain) the enthusiastic notices that preceded him here. His tone was of uniformly excellent quality, modulated to the almost miniature stature in which the whole performance was conceived.

The other choice morsel—though it turned out to be quite a mouthful—was Prokofiev's new symphony, written for the orchestra's 50th anniversary, and played yesterday for the first time. When Prokofiev has a new piece played, that's news. In this case it was good news. The style was reminiscent slightly of the "Classical" Symphony. On the whole, however, it was much more robust, without approaching the savage fury of, let us say, the "Scythian Suite."

The opening of the first movement reminded me of Sibelius by its pastoral character. In fact the use of the woodwinds throughout the Symphony suggested Sibelius. As to the quality of the music, I can say only, after a first hearing, that I liked it. The subject matter was modern, with its roots in the past. Presenting a more tamed Prokofiev, the music made him seem the more forceful.

Stage Lure

QUEENIE SMITH

LIKES SMELL OF SAWDUST

Not a few of the cleverest stage comedians have developed from the circus, and Harry K. Morton, the persistently amusing funmaker with Queenie Smith in her latest musical comedy hit, "The Street Singer," coming to the Shubert beginning Monday, November 24, began an interesting career in the sawdust arena.

Morton was born in Decatur, Ala. Both his parents were circus performers, and it was only natural that, as soon as he was physically able, he should join the "Morton Family," as his father's act was billed. That was when he was 6 years old. After the circus tour the Mortons became vaudeville performers for the winter months, and travelled extensively through the South and West. In time the act came to be known as Morton, Temple and Morton—young Harry was the tail end. The years that followed gave him plenty of experience, for it ran the entire gamut of entertainment, from vaudeville and burlesque to dramatic stock.

Plays Remaining

"The Blue Ghost" at the Majestic. (Second week.) The lovely Seena Owen of picture fame becomes entangled with ghosts, hobgoblins and some very bad men of the spoken drama.

Maurice Moscovitch in "The Merchant of Venice" at the Tremont. (Second week.) Mr. Moscovitch gives a new and interesting interpretation of Shylock. The last week.

"Madge Kennedy in "Michael and Mary" at the Plymouth. (Third week.) An intriguing love story brilliantly told.

* * *

STAR OF 'A LADY'S MORALS' DOUBLE FOR JENNY LIND

Grace Moore, whose first screen vehicle, the Cosmopolitan picture, "A Lady's Morals," will open Monday at Loew's State, was fortunate to be cast in a character role which she herself resembles. She plays Jenny Lind, the Swedish Nightingale, in the new film, and the facial resemblance between Miss Moore and Jenny Lind is said to be strikingly apparent.

Grace Moore

Besides resembling Jenny Lind in appearance, Miss Moore's career likewise resembles that of the Swedish opera star. Both singers received their initial training in church choirs and both rose from lighter musical efforts to success in grand opera. The new production is an original story prepared for Miss Moore at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, where she is now under long term contract. "A Lady's Morals" tells the story of Jenny Lind's battle between her love for a young lover and the rigid conventions of that day. Miss Moore's remarkable soprano voice, which has been acclaimed as one of the most brilliant by leading music critics, will be heard in the new picture, although the film itself is not a musical production in the usual sense of the word. The dramatic story is always foremost; the music is but an accompaniment to the drama. However, Miss Moore sings some original compositions by Oscar Straus and Herbert Stothart.

Speaking of her physical resemblance to Jenny Lind, Miss Moore said:

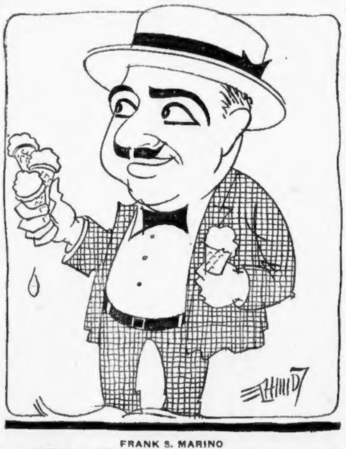
"I didn't believe it when they first told me that I looked like Jenny Lind. It seemed too much of a coincidence, but then Mr. Lewin, the producer of the film, brought me some old engravings that had been printed in New York papers at the time of Miss Lind's visit to this country and it is true; my face does bear a resemblance to these portraits of her. But, I was much more impressed by the fact that she had had her early training in a church choir. That's very common here, but very rare in Europe.

"In fact it is a peculiarity of American singers. Most of us, like Lawrence Tibbett, Marion Tally and myself, originally sang in church choirs. But in Europe that rarely happens. Most of the church singers remain church singers, and the opera performers are culled from other sources. That Jenny Lind should have sung in a choir is very remarkable."

Tuesday Symphony

The Boston Symphony Orchestra will open its season of six Tuesday afternoon concerts in Symphony Hall on November 25, at three o'clock. Dr. Serge Koussevitzky will then present two Preludes of Bach, arranged for String Orchestra by Pick-Mangiagalli; the Seventh Symphony of Beethoven, in A major; and the Second Symphony of Brahms in D major.

Like the Old Hokey-Pokey Man



FRANK S. MARINO

COSSACKS TO MAKE DEBUT

According to report, Boston is to hear a great chorus when the Don Cossacks make their first appearance in Symphony Hall tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. This group of ex-cavalrymen opened their first tour of America last week to three capacity audiences in Carnegie Hall. They are described as having a wonderful range and tone color.

The chorus of 36 is composed of descendants of the lawless and romantic riders of the wild River Don region of Russia. Exiled in a prison camp in Turkey, they were organized by Serge Jaroff, a young man among them of musical talent, into their present perfection. They have been touring the old world with great success for several years.

The Don Cossacks will present a program tomorrow afternoon, which will include the soldier songs which from boyhood they have sung around their camp-fire and on horseback.

Opening Changed

In connection with the showing throughout the key cities of the United States of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's first production starring of Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery, in "Min and Bill," Manager Joseph H. Brennan of Loew's State announces a new opening date for next Friday, November 21. Friday will continue as the new opening date for all feature pictures at the Back Bay house.

This announcement necessarily leaves the engagement of Grace Moore, former Metropolitan Opera star, for four days only. Miss Moore opens Monday in "A Lady's Morals."

FROM FATHER TO SON GOES THIS ROLE

The record for a long run with a theatrical production must be held by the Freiburg Passion Play, from Freiburg, Baden, Germany, which will be produced at the Boston Opera House, in Boston, the first two weeks in December, under auspices of The Christopher Shop, Inc. For the Freiburg Passion claims a continuous run of 666 years.

First produced in Freiburg in 1264, it has been played there at intervals ever since. Older plays are revived from time to time for brief presentations, but none exists with a record of such a run.

The dignified figure in the role of the "Christus" treading a stately way through the Passion Play is Adolph Fassnacht of Freiburg. Since the year 1760 the role has been in his family. He is the eighth of his line to play the part, the seventh to inherit it.

In assuming the role of the "Christus" a man assumes at the same time a great responsibility. His life must be clean—as nearly worthy to portray the great role as is possible in a mere human being. He is responsible not only to himself and to his company of players, but to the town council of Freiburg in whose hands such matters rest. Lesser characters may make excuses. The portrayer of the "Christus" must be above reproach in his life and habits.

While in all respects meeting the requirements of the role in this way Mr. Fassnacht, in addition, brings to the role a great histrionic talent. He is a superb actor, the more so because he is serious minded and partakes somewhat of the missionary spirit in taking the Passion Play to the world. It is his ambition to play it in all countries of the civilized world before he retires.

SIGNS POINT THE WAY OF PROGRESS

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

WITH THE FIRST showing of the Columbia talkie, "Tol'able David," today, a new name goes up in the theatrical district. Officially the New B. F. Keith's is changed over to the RKO Keith theater. Thus Radio-Keith-Orpheum initials itself twice along the Rialto; for a few days ago the Keith-Albee sign was taken down, and one reading RKO Keith Boston took its place.

Joseph Plunkett

RKO POLICIES, as directed by Joseph Plunkett out of New York, will continue to prevail at both houses. Mr. Plunkett is now busy with his plans for further strengthening the great RKO chain of theaters. One of the interesting announcements is that all vaudeville bookings will be in solid units; that is, each show will be booked solid. This will give the RKO Keith Boston exactly the same bill as the Palace, in Gotham. RKO Keith will remain an exclusively film house. "Tol'able David" was chosen especially to mark the change of name at this theater, it is announced; this picture is a sound screen version of the silent drama which established the fame of Richard Barthelmess.

LOOKING THROUGH the cast of "Tol'able David," we discover names new and old. Helen Ware, Edmund Breese, Henry B. Walthall, Noah Beery, are some of the oldtimers. Joan Peers is now in her second year in filmdom; Richard Cromwell is a stranger. Columbia heralds him as a find, and backs its praise by giving him a contract. Which, to young Richard's ears, probably sounds like the clinking of real coin to accompany the old adage, "Actions speak louder than words." The producers add that they have full faith his performances will help make their movie box office success the country over.

THE LAD'S STORY, as the publicity department sends it to us, is interesting. He is twenty, and quite boyish, they say. Necessity is the mother of more things than invention; it forced Richard to get down to the brass tacks of supporting himself and his mother. He succeeded. Then he took up painting, which was his lucky stroke, for it brought a contract with Hollywood folk. That loved lady among all fans, Anna Q. Nilsson, heard of his work. She admired his output, and gave him an order.

"Make me a book-plate," she told him.

He did it so well that Miss Nilsson was quick to boost him to her friends. The first was Marie Dressler.

"Ha, ha!" laughed the gay Marie. "Ho, ho! I suppose you want me to get a book-plate, too."

"Anything you please," said Miss Nilsson, "but give him an order."

"I'll say I will," said the big-hearted comedienne. "What say you, Anna, to my having him paint my portrait?"

"Try him and see how he fares," said Miss Nilsson.

"We're on," chuckled Marie.

And Love Will Soon Bloom

JOAN PEERS—RICHARD CROMWELL

MR. CROMWELL loses no opportunity to tell the pretty Miss Peers the state of his heart. This young couple shine in the talking picture, "Tol'able David," at RKO Keith's.

There's a 'Gee' for Every 'Whoa'

HENRY WADSWORTH AND CAROL LOMBARD

MISS LOMBARD doesn't mind letting Mr. Wadsworth hold the reins. After the bells ring she will hold sway. They're in "Fast and Loose," showing at the Fenway and Scollay.

PAUL LUKAS TO BE STARRED IN 'GIRLS ABOUT TOWN'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Motion Picture Editor Universal Service

Los Angeles, Nov. 15—There seems to be considerable doubt at Paramount just what to do with Paul Lukas. He came here from Hungary, billed as the "John Barrymore of Hungary," a rather difficult reputation for any man to maintain.

Louella Parsons

I don't believe Mr. Lukas had anything to do with that titling for he is a modest, quiet sort of person. He did so well in every picture in which he played that one day Paramount decided that no longer would he be put into character parts. He would be put into leading man parts and launched as a star on his own. One of his next pictures, "Girls About Town," which will have Kay Francis in the feminine lead with Eddie Sutherland directing, has been bought especially for Mr. Lukas. I hope Paramount isn't making a mistake in making a star of him.

So many fine actors have been utterly submerged when they have been singled out to have stories especially purchased for them. Stars are made too rapidly in Hollywood. That is why we have so many heartaches.

I believe I mentioned in this column that the demand for comedy is growing. Pathe, not to be left in the background, is getting busy by resuming comedy activities. Daphne-Pollard, English comedienne and a gal who can always be depended upon to make 'em laugh, is to be starred immediately in "Harold Wants to See the Indians." Perhaps I'd better recall to your minds that "America or Bust" in which little Pollard played a cockney who arrived in America with her son, Harold, who wants to see the Indians, was the first of the series. Paul Gerard Smith is writing the sequel and Ralph Ceder is to direct.

Ina Claire

Ina Claire is coming back to Hollywood. She is due here in another month to make a picture for Paramount. When she went East it was with the intention of making "The Royal Family" for Paramount and then going on the stage. In New York Miss Claire is one of the most popular stage comediennes. But in her eagerness to come back to Hollywood Miss Claire has refused dozens of offers to star before the footlights. She has confided to friends who have visited New York that she longs to return to California. Whether or not she and Jack Gilbert will continue is a question that is being asked again and again.

Jack denies there has been a serious break, so does Ina, but friends close to them intimate that it would not be very surprising if an actual break were to come. However, that is not for us to say until Ina or Jack announce a separation.

No honorable mention was made of Louis Wolheim in "All Quiet on the Western Front" when the prizes were awarded, but it is my personal and private opinion, fine as "All Quiet" is from a directorial standpoint, a few pats on the shoulder should have gone to Wolheim. His performance is one of the things that made the picture such a classic. Lewis Milestone knew what he was doing when he turned all other applicants down and stuck to Wolheim. The two Louies have always done pretty well together. Mr. Milestone will be back at Universal in a few weeks. Carl Laemmle, Jr., who is just out of a sick bed and back at his office, is planning to make "St. Johnson," by W. R. Burnett, author of "Little Ceasar" and "The Iron Man," and Mr. Wolheim is his choice for the lead.

Stop me if you have heard this before. Marie Dressler who merited an editorial in the Cosmopolitan Magazine, will make "The Toast of the Town" by Edgar Allan Woolf, for one of her coming Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer comedies. Chuck Reisner, also a comedy specialist, will direct her. Miss Dressler's increasing popularity is one of the things that makes motion pictures so interesting. She is more popular today than she was when she was young. All any theater owner need be told in buying a picture is that Marie Dressler has a part. She will sell the picture. That is how she stands with the dear public. I wonder if I mentioned that "Maskee" by Ernest Paynter, published in a current magazine, had been purchased by M. G. M. and will be a coming opus.

If Marian Nixon never made any more pictures she still wouldn't have to worry about the old wolf's prowling around for she is married to a young man with plenty of money to support her. But Marian likes her movies and Edward Hillman, Jr., her husband, is sensible enough not to try to take her away from her work. Marian is back in town once more and she has just signed a new contract for three pictures for Liberty productions. That is the M. G. Hoffman Company. Her first picture is the all-women picture of which I wrote in this column. Remember, there is nary a male in the film. It is tentatively titled "Women Like Men."

ACTOR JAILED FOR GOLD

Scott Sanders

Scott Sanders, character comedian, who is presenting his famous character studies at the R.K.O., Boston likes nothing better than to talk of his adventures during his touring the world as a variety artist. Next to his impersonations, taken from his observations of real people, and colored for theatrical purposes, this canny Scotchman likes best to sit about with a few friends and recount some of the adventures he went through. He is fond of telling of a riotous moment in England, after his return from Australia, when he was rushed to the police station for trying to pass fake money.

"The money itself wasn't fake," he explained, "it was Australian and gold coins. But no one in England, or at least in the part of England where I was trying to shop, had ever seen gold money."

DRESSES MAY HAVE LINES OF BEAUTY

By MADGE KENNEDY
Star of "Michael and Mary" at the Plymouth

Some writers have referred to me as one of the richest and best dressed of American stage stars. I would like to say here that I do not wear Paris models. American women have been fed on an absurd notion that the smartest and finest clothes are fashioned by French couturiers. My own frocks are fashioned by a dressmaker in New York who fashions gowns for some of New York's most popular society women. Can you imagine a clever dressmaker with such a prosaic name as Sophia Rosenberg? I have begged her to change it and become fashionable, but she won't. Everyone asks me if a certain yellow chiffon velvet with tulle flounces is the work of Lucien Lelong, Patou or Chanel, and they won't believe me when I insist that it doesn't even bear the Milgrim or Bendel label. They can't understand how a seemingly obscure dressmaker can make such a work of art. I have frock after frock, each one more ravishing than the other, and all the work of Sophia Rosenberg.

Madge Kennedy

Thelma Morgan Converse one day confided to me that none of her frocks came from the French houses, but are made by a little dressmaker in New York. She offered to take me to her and since then, I have put myself entirely in her hands. And the result is that I have never been better dressed.

Mutual Burlesque Shows

Gayety — Howard

Numerous stars, each one a featured performer, have been gathered in the cast of "Take a Chance," which opens Monday at the Gayety. They include Ina Thomas, the versatile blond ingenue; Wava White and Marie Collins. The masculine stars are for the most part dispensers of comedy. They are Max Coleman, Hebrew comedian; Harry Jackson, the Dutch funster; Sid Fields, Larry Amon, and some others. As if those brightlights were not enough, the producer engaged the "The Thrillers," in a breath-taking skating act. This act was featured in vaudeville on the West Coast, where it was considered one of the best of its kind.

Marie Collins

At the Old Howard, beginning Monday, the management will star Hinda Wassau, who makes merry in a snappy specialty. She will be an extra attraction. The burlesque company known as "Legs and Laughter" will provide fun and general entertainment. The laughing element is in the hands of Eddie Dale, a Dutch comic, and George Leon. One of the big scenes will be "Hades and Ship," with radium effects and a balloon ascension. Angeles Lee, vocalist and dancer, will contribute her share to the program. The Three Upstarts are acrobats. Mary Ryan, Bobbie Nissen, Harry C. Van, Lou Costello and Elinor Winant are in the cast.

Hinda Wassau

Paramount Appoints Associate Editors

To knit more closely the activities of the story departments of Paramount's East and West Coast studios, Edward Montagne and Julian Johnson have been appointed associate editors in the West, it is announced by B. P. Schulberg, managing director of production. Montagne and Johnson will be responsible for story and film editing in Hollywood and will work in close co-operation with Maude Miller, editor of the home office story department, and D. A. Doran, Jr., and Rosalie Stewart, associate editors at the New York studios.

PORTIA WINS, NEWS ALONG THE RIALTO

It was after playing in this country on Jacob P. Adler's stage—he then did not speak English—that Maurice Moscovitch, without definite plans except to play there on the Jewish stage, met James Bernard Fagan, who had seen Moscovitch in "Uriel Acosta."

How would he like to act in "The Merchant of Venice"? But the actor knew no English, and demurred.

Moscovitch went to Wales and mastered the part and the language. At the theater in London the company was bound by tradition, but he said it was his show, and Mr. Fagan backed him. After the opening night he was hailed as the "greatest living exponent of Shakespeare." The play did a capacity business for eleven months.

The American producer, Charles Dillingham, saw the London performance, and negotiated to present "the Moscovitch" to American audiences. Last Tuesday night, at the Tremont, Moscovitch gave a performance of Shylock, marking his initial appearance on the American stage in an English-speaking role and establishing himself as a leading exponent of Shakespeare on the stage today.

Roland Hayes Will Appear November 23

Roland Hayes will appear in Symphony Hall Sunday afternoon, Nov. 23. His program will be as follows: "Vaghe Luci" and "Alma del Core," by Caldara; "Vuol che Parta," by Ariosti; "Sehnsucht" and "Dass sie hier Gewesen," by Schubert; "Schone Fremde," "Alte Laute" and "Auftrage," by Schumann; "Danse Macabre," by Saint-Saens; "Beau Soir," by Debussy; "Serenade," by Medtner; "The Heart Worships," by Holst; and a group of Negro Spirituals.

FIFI DORSAY

Paderewski to Play at Symphony Hall

Paderewski will give a recital in Symphony Hall next Tuesday evening, as part of his American tour. The great pianist will present the following program: Brahms' Variations and Fugue on a theme by Handel; Beethoven's Sonata in D minor; Chopin's Sonata in B minor; Nocturne, Two Mazurkas, and Etude, by Chopin; The Dancing Virgins of Delphi, Veils, The Wind in the Plain, and Minstrels by Debussy; Prelude in C sharp minor and Prelude in G sharp minor, by Rachmaninoff; Tristan and Isolde Prelude, by Wagner; and La Campanella, by Paganini-Liszt.

TAKES A FALL OUT OF FATE AND WINS

For the first time in some years Harold Lloyd is seen in a motion picture of sky-scraper thrills, in "Feet First," at the Olympia and Uptown. In 1924 this bespectacled king of comedy created a stir in screendom when he released "Safety Last." The dangers encountered by Lloyd in that one forced him to resolve never to make another of that dare-devil type.

He lived up to that promise to himself—and the insurance companies—until he developed an idea that was so promising from a thrill angle that he closed his eyes to his own resolution to keep forevermore off the sides and cornices of buildings.

That "Feet First" has thrills which exceed those of "Safety Last" was evidenced when this picture was shown to audiences. While the comedian dangled from a painter's scaffold ten stories above the ground, or fell through an awning three stories below, women screamed hysterically, men laughed nervously and youngsters clung to the arms of their chairs, breathlessly tense, watching for the next thrill.

Looking Ahead

NOVEMBER 24—

Lois Moran, starring in "The Dancers," now at the Modern and Beacon, was a featured dancer in the Ballet L'Opera in Paris when she was induced to leave the stage and play the leading role in a motion picture. She fell in love with her work and decided to continue in it.

The first role this intriguing little blonde enacted in the United States was in "Stella Dallas." After her success in "The Music Master," she was signed to a long term contract by Fox. She has appeared in "Behind That Curtain," "Song of Kentucky" and "Words and Music."

JACK DONAHUE: From Charlestown to Broadway

GREATER BOSTON NEWS

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
A HOME PAPER FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK
BOSTON, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1930

2D SECTION

GUNS FORCE GUARD TO WATCH 5 LOOT SAFE

50 Flee for Lives in Cambridge Fire

Borrowed 50 Cents Catches Fame

All that Jack Donahue has had to do so far is to make people like his dancing. Hard work, especially in the small towns, even harder in big burgs. In fact, he fell flat in Syracuse. Before that he got $15 a week in the old Nickelodeon, but it wasn't all $15—there was a split. And so coffee and doughnuts became a luxury.

But when Patrolman Percy Small pulled him out of the hole in Syracuse things began to move. Jack got the start of his life—and he did it on 50 cents, borrowed money.

By WIN BROOKS

Copyright 1930 Boston Evening American

The most important telegram Jack ever received in his life was delivered to his Charlestown home one morning late in 1910.

"Come and see me," it said.

The name of Ted Schroder followed. Schroder was a Boston theatrical booking agent who had taken an interest in Donahue, and who was on the watch, as Mack had been, for a good "spot" for the Charlestown lad.

Jack told of it in later years.

"I was a little short of cash. In fact I was very short of cash. The real lowdown is that I was broke. I went over to the florist shop and saw Joe Visall. 'This looks good, Joe,' I said. 'Better get in and see him,' said Joe. 'How much money you got, Joe?' I asked. 'I got a dollar,' said Joe. 'How much you got?' 'I got half your dollar,' I told him.

One Half Dollar
It Opened the Wide Road

"And I did have, after he got it changed. Then we each had a half dollar. Joe was going in town and we walked together over the bridge. He left me at North Station, where I got a shave and shine with my half of the dollar, and went to see Schroder.

"But for that haircut and shine—well, there might never have been any Mrs. Jack Donahue and any little Donahues."

Schroder informed Jack that he was seeking a dancing partner for a talented young Boston girl named Alice Stewart. Was Jack interested? He was.

Miss Stewart was summoned to Schroder's office and Mr. Donahue was introduced. The girl was favorably impressed by the Mrs. Donahue's boy and Jack was a little more than favorably impressed by Miss Stewart. They showed each other their steps. They tried a few steps together.

Recognized at Last
But Not Until 'She' Came in

"I think we'd make a good team," said Jack. They did; they were one of the happiest married couples of the profession until death cut short Donahue's career.

After a week or more of rehearsal they were booked around the small towns in New England, as "Donahue and Stewart." They had a good act and it wasn't long before the world began to recognize it. The Donahue grin was widening, the Donahue wit was sharpening and the Donahue trained feet were responding as never before.

Miss Stewart was not only a beautiful girl but an excellent dancer and a fine comedienne. As Jack had predicted, they made a good team.

They played together many of the houses Jack had played alone, the old Palace and the old Lexington Theaters among them. Then they landed on the Keith circuit and the gate began to swing open to Jack Donahue.

They went across the country on a triumphant tour of the larger cities. Eddie Cushing, Jack's old pal, was in Philadelphia when they swung into the Quarker City to fill out an all-star bill at the transformation of Hammerstein's Opera House into a vaudeville theater.

"Him and Her"
Along With the Stars

They were billed then as 'Jack Donahue and Alice Stewart—"Him and Her."' Lillian Russell, Weber and Fields and John T. Kelley were on the bill with them. "Him and Her" followed Weber and Fields.

"In all the years that I watched Jack Donahue on the stage I never saw him receive a bigger hand than he and his partner

Represent B. U. in Forensic Wars

MARY WALSH NAOMI McMICHAEL LOUISE SPIERS ELIZABETH COUSER ANNA CRAIG

READY FOR COMBAT is the Boston University Woman's Varsity Debating Team. Mary Walsh hails from Wareham, Naomi McMichael from Blackstone, Louise Spiers, Malden, Elizabeth Couser, Waban, and Anna Craig, North Easton. (Staff photo.)

GIRL DEBATERS CHOSEN AT B. U.

Five members were chosen to represent the women's varsity debating team at Boston University, it was announced today by Prof. Ward F. Browning, coach.

The co-eds who will represent their alma mater on the verbal field of battle are: Misses Louise Spiers, Malden; Naomi McMichael, Blackstone; Anna Craig, North Easton; Elizabeth Couser, Wabon, and Mary Walsh, Wareham.

Misses Spiers and Walsh have been members of the forensic trio for the past three years and are the mainstays of the present squad. The debate schedule includes Mt. Holyoke, Pembroke, N. Y. U., Middlebury, Vermont and Rhode Island.

Woman Rescued in Leap Into Charles

A woman, who said she was Victoria Condell of Barton st., West End, was rescued from the Charles river near the West Boston (Longfellow) bridge today, but several hours later was reported in a critical condition at Massachusetts General Hospital as a result of shock and immersion.

She was taken from the water by James O'Hara of the Boston health department, who told the police he saw her leap into the river. She was unconscious for a long time and when in a semi-conscious condition was asked her name and address, which she gave, but the hospital authorities were not certain she knew what she was saying.

'Week-End Slack Time' Hits Jobless a Hard Blow

(If you have an odd job to be done, or a task on which an extra workman can be used, call the Municipal Employment Bureau, Liberty 8607, or mail the coupon to 25 Church st., Boston.)

The customary week-end falling off in offers of work resulted in several hundred men and women in distress being turned away from the Municipal Employment Bureau today.

John J. Shields, director of the bureau, while thankful for the odd jobs being provided, asked that the public be advised of this habitual week-end condition.

The slack starts on Fridays, sometimes on Thursdays, Shields said, which means that the hundreds of applicants for work must get through until Monday the best they can—even though dependents at home are hungry and funds are entirely wiped out by the long period of unemployment.

Seconding this appeal, the Boston Evening American again urges the people of the metropolitan district to let the unemployed do those many odd jobs which must be done sooner or later and which may as well be done now—done by the needy at small cost.

SPARKS SET BLAZE IN PAINT VAT

Two Alarms Ring as Flames in Steel Plant Menace Industrial District

A two-alarm fire, threatening the large Cambridge industrial district, drove 50 men out of the factory of Swett & Sibley, ornamental steel manufacturers, in Sidney st. today and destroyed the building and contents.

The fire started, according to fire department officials, when sparks from an acetylene torch which was being used to cut a pipe fell into a paint vat.

The flames flared up and spread rapidly, and there was no chance to save the structure, a one-story brick building 120 by 80 feet.

"Spike," a cat and the pet of the men employed at the plant, lost his life in the fire.

Sanity Test for Man in Shooting Case

Carl Liden, 54, of Rutland st., South End, who is alleged to have shot Mrs. Sanna Zachrisson, 35, mother of four children, in Mattapan yesterday, was sent to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation by Judge Perrin in West Roxbury court today.

He pleaded not guilty to charges of assault and battery with intent to kill and carrying a revolver without a permit. He will be under observation for 10 days. Mrs. Zachrisson is at City Hospital and her name is on the danger list.

'Burglarproof? Not for Them!'

WHAT FIVE BURGLARS did to the safe—supposedly burglar-proof—in the office of the Superior Laundry, Cambridge. They got $400 to $500, the "job" being the second at the laundry, $1300 having been stolen three weeks ago. Miss Eleanor Polito is pointing to the damage.

UNDER THREAT of his life, the night watchman, Herbert White, was forced at gun point to sit and watch the cracksmen loot the safe he was employed to guard. (Staff photo.)

EX-OFFICER UP IN FIGHT CASE

Charged with assault and battery on City Councillor Francis E. Kelly of Ward 15, Dorchester, Martin J. McCarthy of Cummins highway, Roslindale, a former policeman, pleaded not guilty today in municipal court and obtained a continuance until November 21.

McCarthy was released on his personal recognizance under $25 bail. Kelly was in court and did not oppose the postponement.

The charge resulted from a street battle in Union st. and Haymarket sq., Thursday, between McCarthy and the councillor. Rumor gives Kelly's violent attack on the Curley administration and the mayor's brother, John, in last Monday's City Council meeting, as the basis of the fight.

McCarthy claims the fight started when Kelly bumped into him on Union st.

New Leader Hopes to Keep Y. D. at Top

That he hopes to maintain a high standard in the 26th division was the statement today of Maj.-Gen. Erland F. Fish of Brookline, appointed by Gov. Allen as commanding officer of the organization to take the place of Gen. Alfred F. Foote, who resigned last night after 33 years of state and national service.

Gen. Fish, who is the first artillery officer to head the 26th division, established headquarters today at Commonwealth armory.

Following the lead of Gen. Foote, Lieut.-Col. Arthur A. Hansen of Waltham, ordnance officer of the 26th division, today asked to be placed on the retired list. Adjt.-Gen. Jesse F. Stevens said the request would be complied with. Col. Hensen asked to be retired because of illness. He served in France and at the Mexican border.

BANDITS GET $500 FROM SUPERIOR LAUNDRY

Work for Three Hours on "Burglar Proof" Safe, as They Taunt Watchman

While they forced the night watchman to sit in a chair 15 feet away, threatening to kill him if he made an outcry, four burglars worked for three hours early today until they ripped open a "burglar-proof" safe at the Superior Laundry Company, Concord ave., Cambridge.

The burglars obtained between $400 and $500, according to Fred C. Campbell, one of the proprietors. Three weeks ago $1300 was stolen from another safe in the same place.

"Watch us," said one of the burglars to Herbert White, the trembling night watchman as the quartet wielded heavy sledges on the safe door.

"Now, you're learning something," added the burglar who seemed to get a "kick" from his patter to the watchman.

GUARD IN FRONT

"One outcry and we'll fix you," said the talkative burglar to White, at another time.

"It was a hair-raising experience," said White after the burglars had fled. "Those three hours from midnight to 3 a. m. seemed like a week. I thought they'd never get the safe open. They used several chisels and heavy hammers to do the job. While they worked a fifth man with a shotgun patrolled the street in front of the laundry and when anyone neared the building he made a lot of noise at an automobile as though trying to fix it, in order to deaden the noise made by his companions who were opening the safe."

RETURN HIS $2

White said one of the quartet at work on the safe was a youth of 18, who trembled visibly as he worked.

"I believe it was his first 'job,'" said White. "He seemed very nervous."

The other men were between 20 and 35 years.

Before leaving, the burglars took $2 from the watchman, but returned it to him upon learning he is married.

Second Attempt at Suicide Succeeds

Last month Louis H. Legg of Freeman ave., Everett, left a note to his son saying that he intended to end his own life, and drove away in his automobile. After a State-wide search he turned up again, apparently cured of his suicidal intent.

Early today, however, he carried out the threat by ending his life in the kitchen of his home by turning on three burners in the gas stove. Business reverses are believed to be the cause of his act.

Police Warn Boys to Beware Air Guns

Boston boys who own air rifles are warned to use them only in safe places in an order issued to division commanders today by Supt. of Police Crowley. During the past few days a Mattapan woman and a West End boy have been hit by shot from such rifles.

$50 Weekly for News and Picture Tips

Do you want to get money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American offers the opportunity. Each week $50 in prizes will be given for news and picture tips telephoned in to the News-Tip Editor, at Liberty 4000.

And what is a news tip? It's the information that something of interest to Greater Bostonians has taken place or will take place. Do you know, for instance, that an interesting picture is to be obtained, that an accident or an unusual event has happened, that there is going to be a business merger? That's a news tip. If you have a camera, take a picture of some news event, while it is happening. Pictures of unusual animal poses are wanted, too. Bring your action pictures to the American quick. Delay often spoils them for use in the American.

There will be $15 given weekly for the best or an unusual event news tip received, $10 for the next best, $5 for the next best, and $2 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips. Of course, the first one who turns in the tip in an interesting event receives the award on that particular item. Anyone who is alive and alert can win.

How Ames Staged Boxing Show by Royal Command

King Was Fooled When Carpentier K. O'd Lenaers

My Word! Old Bill Is a Celebrity!

Here's ol' Billy Ames, spats, Picadilly accent, and all, moseying around the Boston Garden for these many, many moons, with none of us realizing what a celebrity he really is. Bli' me, if Alex MacLean's right hand bower isn't the only bloomin' cove in captivity whoever staged a boxing show by Royal Command! And we'll be bloody well bowed if old Billy isn't the h'only H'Englishman w'oever h'owned up 'Is Majesty, The King—'ats h'off 'arry! —could be wrong! Yes, old Billy owns up, His Majesty, King George V, once was wrong, very much wrong. It seems that King Georgie saw a real honest to goodness knockout and thought it was a fake. Lots of us have seen a fake and thought it was a real honest-to-goodness knockout. The King—stand up H'Archie and doff your bloody dicer!—naturally must be different than us ordinary mortals.

George Underwood

Dropping "H's" all over the place this morning, old Billy told us about staging the boxing match at Royal Command and how the King guessed wrong. It seems that back in 1921, His Majesty, King George V was receiving a visit from Aristide Briand, President of France. President Briand wanted to see the Grand National Steeplechase at Liverpool. So he caused it to be hinted to His Majesty, the King of England, that affairs of state demanded a conference between himself and King George—you know how it is done—and in due time along came the royal invitation. Georgie had a bet down himself.

King George, a wonderful host, wanted the President of France to have a good time and go back to that dear Paree with the opinion that the Rue de La Paix and the Place de La Concorde didn't have so much on Fleet Street and the Strand, after all.

At that time Georges Carpentier was all the rage in Europe. He had beaten Battling Levinsky — the Limurbgian aroma of that affair still is in our nostrils — and the match with Dempsey was brewing.

"What would be sweeter," soliloquized His Majesty, "than to have the great Carpentier box for President Briand?"

Inquiries were made and it was found that President Briand never had seen his famous countryman with the gloves on. That settled it.

KING COMMANDS

Old Billy Ames, who was in charge of Carpentier's British tour, received a note from His Majesty's Secretary, Major Domo, Chief of the Exchequer, Chief Cook and Bottle Washer, or somebody or other, that the King very much would like to see the gallant French fighter, Monsieur Georges Carpentier, scramble a few ears.

That, my deah fellow, was a royal command.

Where and when would His Majesty be pleased to see M'seu Carpentier transfer a few eyebrows? old Billy queried through official channels.

At Knowsley Hall, the estate of Lord Derby, near Liverpool, on the eve of the Grand National, came back the reply.

So it was arranged.

My word, what a distinguished assembly gathered there in Lord Derby's parlor! Or was it the sittin' room? You couldn't twirl your monocle without hitting a duke or an earl. You couldn't take a bloomin' step without treading on the pretty tootsies of a Princess or a Marchioness.

There were Admirals to left of you, Generals to right of you, Marshals in front of you, yelling "Kick him in the slats!"

Included in the gathering of 70 blue bloods were His Majesty King George V., Her Majesty, Queen Mary; their Royal Highnesses, the Prince of Wales, Prince Henry, the Duke of York, Princess Mary and Prince Murat of the old French Royalist family. Then there was Lord Derby, Lord and Lady Stanley, President Briand, Marshall Foch, Lord Haig, Admiral Beatty and a flock who take up whole pages in Who's Who and Burke's Peerage.

When old Billy Ames looked over that gathering he almost forgot to drop his "h's." Carpentier scarcely could catch his breath. Francois Descamps kept his hypnotic eyes tightly closed for fear if he opened them he would find he was dreaming.

Gorgeous George had been touring England with a boxing act in which he re-enacted his bout with Levinsky. Jules Lenaers, the veteran French fighter, played Levinsky. In the first two rounds Georges wore the big 16-ounce training pillows. Then Carpentier donned the small five ounce fighting mits to make the knockdowns and knockout of "Levinsky" seem more realistic. Lenaers was a good actor and he could stimulate a knockout to the Queen's taste.

But this time Carpentier overdid things.

Gorgeous Georges was so excited over the occasion, so anxious to make a hit with their Royal Highnesses that when it came time to "knockout Levinsky," the Orchid Man really did let a real punch go.

LETS IT GO

The twin thumps caught poor Lenaers flush on the chin and knocked the old French fighter colder than a landlady's heart.

He fell like a poled steer, plunging face forward to the canvas where he lay stiff as a corpse.

Ames counted him out. Carpentier, picking up the inert and still unconscious Lenaers, stood there bowing and scraping. Then Lenaers was carried to his corner. Ames, Descamps and other handlers worked on him frantically. Billy thought Carpentier had killed him. Finally Lenaers came back from the Land of Nod.

The first face Lenaers looked into as he regained consciousness was the King of England's.

King George V had walked to the side of the ring and congratulated Carpentier. Then he reached forward to shake hands with Lenaers, just regaining consciousness, and with the canaries still chirping:

"Monsieur Lenaers," said His Majesty, "I do not know much about your ability as a boxer. Perhaps I am not qualified as a judge of the manly art. But I unhesitatingly say you are one of the greatest actors I ever have seen."

King George V thought Lenaers was "acting" that knockout.

His Majesty isn't the only person who has been fooled by a "knockout." Generally you mistake the "dive" for the knockout instead of, like King George V, mistaking the real knockout for a "dive."

That's how old Billy Ames, assistant matchmaker in the Boston Garden, staged a boxing show by Royal Command and runs the risk of being hanged, drawn and quartered for committing Lese Majestie by saying the King was wrong. The King, y'know, can do no wrong.

Jack Conway Speaker at Commerce Night

The Boston High School of Commerce Alumni will gather at the high school, Louis Pasteur ave., on next Monday evening, Nov. 17 at 8 o'clock for the "Monster Commerce Night" celebration. Jack Conway, Boston Evening American boxing editor, and Commerce graduate will be among the speakers. Other speakers will be "Doc" Fleming, popular high school coach, and Bernie Kilroy, former Boston College star, now coach of the undefeated Natick High School team, and Forrest E. (Bill) Williams.

RUNYON ASKS FOR CHANGE OF RULE

By DAMON RUNYON

New York, Nov. 15—Here I am fixing up those football rules again.

I want a rule empowering the officials to stop a game when it gets too lop-sided, as in boxing a referee can halt a bout in which a participant is obviously outclassed.

Let me explain.

When—say at the close of the first half—a football team is a mile or so behind its opponent, and there is nothing more to its immediate future than a little more belting about, let the boss official step forward and say:

"See here, now, boys, that'll be all for today!"

I claim it would be a humane action, and would save the losers from unwarranted punishment. Furthermore, it would give the spectators a chance to hurry home and warm their tootsies.

In the manly art of boxing, when a man has been slugged all over the joint for four or five rounds, and is teetering around on his heels, with a couple of ears hanging loose, you hear the clients crying shrilly:

"Stop 'er! Stop 'er!"

I am inclined to think that quite often the football spectators are disposed to bawl for the barkes on a one-sided football game, and are deterred therefrom only because it isn't customary.

I can see no more sense in permitting a football game to continue to a score of 60 to 20, or 74 to 0, to quote some recent tallies, than in permitting a boxing bout to continue when a man is within one more punch of Calvary.

Argue That Team May Rally

Some may argue that in football an apparently hopelessly beaten team may rally, and eventually win out. That is occasionally true, but not true often enough to overcome my argument. A child can tell when a team hasn't a living chance. A couple of touchdowns behind—all right. But when the team is getting kicked the length and breadth of the field, they ought to cry King'sx.

Another important consideration in my new rule, is the saving of liquor to the consumers if a game is stopped at the right moment. They could go home with half the contents of their flasks intact. I wish the reader would not overlook this phase of the situation. Based on the number of empty flasks that I have counted behind the scenes of long-drawn-out and quite one-sided games, I estimate that the saving in rum on shortened games would amount to $1,313,235.04 annually.

Some experts contend that the close games produce more flask hoisting than the one-sided games, because the consumers are nervous in the pinches, and resort to their hips with greater frequency. I must take exception to this contention. In the Notre Dame-Pennsylvania game of last week, for example, the local consumers or Pennsylvanians, certainly devoted themselves to their flagons with greater ardor than usual, chiefly to numb their senses to what was going on.

And, speaking as one old Pennsylvanian to another, I don't blame 'em. It was truly an appalling spectacle.

The football dramming this year has been quite up to snuff, and perhaps even a little snuffier than ordinarily. Some observers hold that the Dartmouth-Harvard game at Cambridge recently established an exceptionally fine record, the empty flask count after the pastime running well up, but the Harvard-Michigan game also made a most satisfactory showing.

SAMMY FULLER

ANDY CALLAHAN

SAMMY FULLER, who threatens to take the forfeit of $1000 if Andy Callahan does not make fighting weight for their fracas, has got Handy Andy a bit nervous. The pair who fight for the Christmas Basket Fund at the Arena are shown weighing in. Both scrappers are keeping strict tab on their waist lines. It promises to develop into a grudge fight.

40 BOUTS ON ST. JOE'S CARD

The most attractive list of entries ever received for a St. Joe's T. A. Society amateur boxing show will be on hand for the tournament at Mechanics Building tonight.

Bill Cuddy reports there will be at least 40 bouts and that there will be plenty of keen competition.

The 160 pound class and light heavyweight division will be features at tonight's show. Many star entries have been received in these divisions and some red hot competition is expected.

There will also be bouts at 118, 126, 135, and 148 pound classes.

Cuddy announced today that the boys who show to the best advantage in the St. Joe's tournaments will be picked to represent this country in the international ring shows which will be staged here during the indoor season.

BANTAM GOLF

JOE CASHMAN

The authorities are at least playing fair with the miniature golf owners and players in New Hampshire. Recently, the bantam courses were ordered closed on Sundays. The owners obeyed, but protested that their patrons had just as much right to play on the Sabbath as the legitimate golfers. Now it is announced that there will be no golf playing of any kind in the Granite State on the Lord's Day.

* * *

All of which will probably result in a change in the State laws so that golf, both legitimate and peewee, as well as football, baseball and hockey will be allowed on Sunday.

* * *

The Rite Way course on Mass. ave., opposite Technology, in Cambridge, will hold a Ladies' Night every Monday evening, which means that the fair sex will be allowed to play this novel and most interesting course free, and prizes will be given to those turning in the best scores.

* * *

Claude Davidson of the Bradford Hotel course has grabbed off another tourney. On Monday, the employes of the Employers Liability Assurance Corp., will stage a two-day tournament there. A 36-hole qualifying round is scheduled for Monday, and the semi-finals and finals will take place on Wednesday. Prizes will be awarded to the members of the winning team and to the lowest scorer in the opening round.

Davidson also announces that a new obstacle in the form of a dragon has been installed at the 18th hole. It was at the 19th that all dragons were in the good old days.

This column is open to all course managements and fans for anything of real interest pertaining to bantam golf. Write on one side of the paper and write clearly and legibly.

Tigers vs. Arrows in First Home Game of Season

Hub hockey fans get their first chance to see the Boston Tigers, local Canadian-American League representatives, in action tonight against the Philadelphia Arrows at the Garden.

In four years of competition, the Tigers have been first, second, third and fourth, but never last. Manager Eddie Powers, once again in charge of the locals, says his men will be first again before they are fifth, and thinks they'll regain the championship they lost last year during the present campaign.

So far, you can't prove him wrong, for the Tigers opened the season with a victory at New Haven last Sunday and now are tied with the defending Providence champions for the lead. A victory tonight will give them undisputed possession of first place.

Both Teams Appear Strong

Both the Tigers and their rivals, the Arrows, have been largely rebuilt, and both appear to be stronger than last year. No less than six former Bruins are now with the Tigers, five of them young recruits sent to the Can-Am club last week in the new Bruins-Tigers agreement, and the sixth, Hal Winkler, a former Bruins net minder, who has come to the Tigers from Seattle.

The Arrows, on the other hand, have a brand new forward line imported from Canada, a line which has been good enough to force even Lloyd Andrews, fourth among Can-Am scorers last year, down to the second forward line. Also with Herb Gardiner's club is Maurie Roberts, the Somerville boy who has guarded the nets for both major and minor league clubs.

Powers has had his men practising at the Garden all week. Ordinarily the Tigers work out at the Arena, but with so many new men on his roster, Powers has been using the Garden, where the home games will be played, in order that all hands may be accustomed to the larger surface.

Powers will use three ex-Bruins players in his starting lineup. Hal Winkler, of course, will be in the goal. Peaches Lyons and Paul Runge, the latest of the recruits to reach the Tigers from the North Station club, have displaced veteran talent and will be at left wing and center, respectively. Yank Boyd, fighting right winger of last year's Tiger team, will be the other starting forward.

Two other ex-Bruins will figure in the second line. Guy McNeill will be at left wing and Bobby Taylor, Brookline boy and former Philadelphian player, will be on the other wing, with Eddie Burke, veteran sub-center, in between.

Johnny Loucks, high scoring left wing of last year's six, has been troubled with an ankle injury which is only now mending. Otherwise he might displace either Lyons or McNeill. The latter, too, is not in the best shape, and Loucks may be used for relief duty on both forward lines. Rollie Connacher, who started at center against New Haven, and Charley Ramsay, another pivot, will be held in reserve.

Capt. Reg Mackey, the lightest defense man in the business, and Yip Foster, the heaviest player in the Can-Am League, will pair at the points as they did toward the end of last year. Bill Brander, a young ex-Bruin, will be ready for relief duty.

BARN PARTY FOR ELIS DEC. 6

Invitations have been sent to the captains of Yale's football teams for the past decade to attend the tenth annual barn party of the Yale Club of Montclair, N. J., and vicinity on Dec. 6, it was announced today.

The captains invited to return to the barn and celebrate the tenth anniversary of the annual gathering are Malcolm P. (Mac) Aldrich, leader of the 1921 team; R. E. (Doc) Jordan, 1922; W. N. (Bill) Mallory, 1923; W. M. (Winnie) Lovejoy, 1924; J. H. (Johnny) Joss, 1925; P. W. (Tibby) Bunnell, 1926; W. A. (Bill) Webster, 1927; M. H. (Max) Eddy, 1928; W. W. (Firpo) Greene, 1929 and F. T. (Fay) Vincent, captain of the eleven this season.

Mac Aldrich was the first Yale football captain to be entertained in the Montclair barn, and each one of the subsequent gridiron leaders, together with the Eli players and coaching staff, has been feted in turn at the annual party during its ten years of existence. The teams have gone to the barn each year whether their record for the season has been "win, lose, or draw."

With the Semi-Pros

By JOHN GILLOOLY

The powerful Pere Marquette football machine, rumbling along on the road to the semi-pro title in this State, may encounter a little motor trouble tomorrow afternoon when it collides with the strong Dilboy Post team at Dilboy Field, Somerville.

The Caseys have romped through eight straight games and have not yet been close to the brink of defeat. In fact they are so far ahead of the other semi-pro teams, on paper, that their faithful followers are talking of a contest with the Providence Steamrollers.

Dilboy will give the Peres their first real test of the season and should put the Southie stalwarts through a fine windup for their big clash with the Fittons, a week from tomorrow.

Unlike their college brothers, these semi-pro clubs do not take "breathers" before their objectives. While the Peres tackle the Dilboys the Fittons will sail into the strong Whitman A. A. down at Fort Banks. And that will also be a worthy take-in although the Somerville struggle carries a bit more color.

It will be "Booster Day" at Fort Banks. The Fittons have a new star to flash in George Pease, formerly with Columbia and now backfield coach at Holy Cross. Pease sparkled in the All-Star lineup and his presence will help the Noddle Islanders more than a little.

A good semi-pro wrangle is booked at the Dorchester Town Field, too, with the bitter rivals, St. Ann's and St. Ambrose, clashing.

The Battery A and Veterans of Foreign Wars elevens, both of Cambridge, will clash in a semi-pro battle at Russell Field, North Cambridge, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

The unemployment situation has touched semi-pro football. The following teams and the managers' addresses are printed with the thought that perhaps some of them can get together and promote a little football business.

Waltham Webs, Wm. Corcoran, Waltham 3214-W.

CLAIM U. S. C. GETS BEST ATHLETES

San Francisco, Nov. 15 (AP)—The proposal of R. L. "Dink" Templeton, Stanford University track coach, for an investigation to determine "why the University of Southern California gets the best football players and other athletes," threw the coast football situation into a turmoil today.

"The future of Pacific Coast athletics depends on an investigation," Templeton told a gathering of California and Stanford alumnus and officials at Oakland yesterday.

Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California, at Los Angeles, issued a quick reply, asking the Stanford coach to "prove his insinuations or shut up."

The turmoil evidently centered around the 74 to 0 defeat handed California by Southern California.

"Until Stanford and California get a break on athletic material there is no chance for them to compete with Southern California on an even basis," Templeton declared.

"It is high time that Stanford and California should get together and find out why this situation has arisen. Why has U. S. C. athletes and football players? Maybe it is the Southern California climate; the waving palms on the U. S. C. campus buildings.

"All coaches know that the first principle of success is man power, regardless of miracles or magic up their sleeves.

"This is the first time in history since the New Zealand All Blacks (famed rugby team that toured the United States several years ago) that the Pacific coast has had such an athletic organization of big power as the U. S. C. football team."

Coach Jones declared the veiled charges of subsidization demanded proof.

"If either Templeton or these California supporters with their veiled remarks on subsidization have anything to prove, I'll be more than glad to listen," he said. "They've made a lot of accusations. Now let's have some proof.

"Don't both Stanford and California get a large percentage of their athletes from Southern California? How many players do we get from Northern California?"

Coach Jones said, except for three men the 1930 Trojan football team was the same eleven which lost to California 15 to 7 in 1929, after which no hints of subsidization were heard.

W. B. Owens, Stanford professor and president of the Pacific Coast conference, said Templeton's remarks were his personal opinions and did not represent Stanford's attitude.

Schaaf Explains Charity Offer

Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, has issued the following statement:

"My offer to box Jim Maloney for charity was made in all sincerity. My only stipulation was that my entire purse be donated to charity, to help the unemployed and those in need, after the deduction of reasonable training expenses.

"I am ready to go through with that offer now. This is not a play on my part to get publicity. True, as Maloney points out, boxing is his business and he wants to make as much out of the game as possible, but I do believe that in a national emergency like this everybody should do what he can to relieve the situation.

"My only interest is in seeing that my purse is donated to charity.

"I understand Maloney intends to ask for 50 per cent of the gate when he ordinarily gets only 25 to 30 per cent. I did not agree to box to enrich Maloney and Carroll who are will fixed in the goods of the world. My purse must not go to Maloney and Carroll, but to the unemployed and their dependents."

Fall River Eleven to Meet Lucy Recs

Another extensive program is on the cards for soccer fans this week end, with the Fall River-Lusitania Recreation tilt at the Lusitania Stadium, Cambridge, tomorrow the feature event locally.

Interest in the battle has the fans on edge with a number of former Hub stars playing on the Fall River team.

Alex McNab, Bobby Ballantyne, Scotty Nelson and Billy Gonsalves are all local favorites who helped to break records for the Boston team when it was a member of the American league.

Wanderers Clash With Cherry Pals

The Ashmont Wanderers will meet the undefeated Cherry Pals of Cambridge at the Mary Hemenway Playground, Dorchester, tomorrow afternoon, the game starting at 2:30.

45-Yard Holy Cross Pass Paves Way for First Score

Harvard's 30-yard line by Cavalieri. Two rushes by Mays netted Harvard four yards. On a fake kick formation Mays made 3 yards to Harvard's 38-yard line. Batchelder punted to H. C. 25-yard line where Richards downed the ball. O'Connell went off tackle for 5 yards.

Griffin added a yard at center. O'Connell punted to Mays and Mays was run outside on Harvard's 36-yard line. White made one yard at left tackle. White added 5 yards at the same place. Harvard was penalized 5 yards for offside. Batchelder punted to O'Connell, who ran the ball back to H. C.'s 47-yard line. A forward pass from O'Connell failed.

O'Connell punted to Mays, who was downed on Harvard's 18-yard line. On a lateral pass Mays lost 8 yards. Batchelder punted to O'Connell on H. C.'s 38-yard line.

A lateral pass, Baker to O'Connell, gave H. C. a first down at midfield. A forward pass, O'Connell to Colucci, gave H. C. a first down on Harvard's 10-yard line. It was a pass of 45 yards, Batchelder making the tackle. Time out for H. C. O'Connell made 1 yard, being stopped by Ticknor. Griffin added 2 more at center. Baker reached Harvard's 5-yard line on a double pass. Holy Cross scored on a forward pass, O'Connell to Garrity.

Score: H. C., 6; Harvard, 0.

Score: H. C., 6; Harvard, 0.

Baker received Ticknor's kickoff and was downed on his own 26-yard line. Griffin made 4 yards over the center of the line.

Baker punted to Mays, who was downed on Harvard's 27-yard line. Mays made three yards on a tackle slant. A lateral, Mays to White gained a yard. A pass from Wood was intercepted by Farrell of H. C. on Harvard's 33-yard line, Myerson making the tackle. A forward pass, O'Connell to Garrity, made six yards for H. C. Griffin failed to gain at center. AA forward pass, O'Connell to Baker, failed as the period ended.

Score—H. C. 6, Harvard 0.

NEW GOLF BALL HERE TO STAY

By O. B. KELLER

The "new" golf ball is here to stay. Not only because the United States Golf association has decreed the larger and lighter type as official after January 1, and the manufacturers no longer are making the old ones, but because the players who make the golf wheels go around have embraced the 1931 edition.

A friend advises me of an incident on an eastern course that proves beyond question that the new ball has been accepted by the rank and file. A 20 handicap player was searching in the rough for a misplaced drive.

He found a ball practically new but it was not his. His playing companion suggested that he abandoned the search for his ball and play the one he had just found.

"That won't do," was the reply. "This ball is almost new, but not quite new enough. It is an old fashioned ball. I am playing only the new size ball. I'll drop another from my own stock. Here, caddy, you can have this old bullet."

Inquiry developed that this player, and many of his fellows, adopted the new ball as soon as the manufacturers put it on the market. All summer they have played steadily with the larger and lighter type and like it.

After all it does not make any difference what the experts think about the new ball. The players who are looking for balls in the rough, like my friend in the east, are the ones who pay the bills and they should have the final say about the ball they and their opponents use. If they like it, the scratch players should be tickled almost to death.

The "low down" of course will come next year when the tournament season brings the actual test. Probably the scores will not mount as some of the pessimists think. It was Leo Diegel, who can make any shot sometimes, who said when asked about the ball:

"The ball doesn't make any great difference. Any of them will travel if you hit 'em right."

Given a fair chance, the ball will pay dividends to a poor player. Thousands already have found that better lies are available from a ball that will "sit up" and it will hold a green better.

It is, perhaps, easier to get out of traps and there can be no question that this will prove a boon to the man who knows, when he goes for a green, that the chances are 50-50 on the green and the traps around it.

The loss of distance charged to the "bigger and lighter" has been held up as a terrible thing, but experiments have shown that the loss is not so great as charged.

The final indictment of the 1931 product is that the ordinary player will find it difficult to control it in the wind.

Let's hear Diegel again, as an expert, on that phase.

"Do you find that you can't play the new ball successfully in the wind?" Leo was asked.

YIP FOSTER BOBBY TAYLOR

Phillips Exeter Academy eleven plays Phillips Andover Academy team this afternoon at Andover in the 52d annual meeting of these old schools. The teams are evenly matched and should put up one of their usual fine grid struggles.

Exeter is a slight favorite because of its win over the strong Worcester Academy team. Only a fine Hebron Academy eleven has won this year over the Exonians.

Andover, though it has won only two games of seven played this fall, has scored 82 points in those games. Exeter has been successful in tallying the small total of 22 points this year.

Michigan Fights to Stay in 'Big 10' Lead

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 15 (US)—A little brown jug that retails at 98 cents in any first class crockery store will be at stake here today when Michigan and Minnesota renew their aged football rivalry on Ferry Field before a crowd of 70,000.

The traditional "Jug" game, which causes men of both Michigan and Minnesota to give "body and soul," like the new popular song, has always been one of great frenzy, even though Michigan nearly always wins the game.

This year it has added zest for the Wolverines because they must win to keep in the running with Northwestern for the Big Ten title. If Northwestern beats Wisconsin, as is expected, the Wildcats will finish their Big Ten schedule with five straight wins.

If Michigan beats Minnesota that will give the Wolverines four straight wins and they can then earn half of Northwestern's title by beating Chicago next Saturday an event which seems more certain than even death and taxes.

Eagles Show Real Class Against Loyola Eleven

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15.—Boston College is now [illegible] preparations for its annual game with Holy Cross. Although there is yet an engagement with Boston University to be faced, Coach Joseph McKenney is confident that the Eagles can take [illegible] point its team [illegible] Cross.

The Eagle may still make a success of the season, a possibility [illegible] today. After taking the University of Loyola over the toils last night 19-0, they are back in the running again and should prove a hard combination for any team to defeat.

[illegible] and Holy Cross on the first two Saturdays, Boston College can end the season with a record of six wins and four defeats.

Eagle followers are looking for a whirlwind finish. The team is now running better than it did at any time this year, even in its memorable battles with Fordham, Marquette and Georgetown. It has at last developed the [illegible] has been missing all Fall.

With only a single injury reported from the Loyola skirmish the Eagle coaches can begin hard work as soon as the team reaches Boston.

In defeating Loyola by three touchdowns the Eagles once more revealed a brand of aerial game that had the 6000 spectators spellbound. Although it was thought that they would be handicapped by lack of experience with the night game, the Eagles marched down the field three times for scores

MIDDLE WEST AND SOUTH IN 27 GAMES

By FIELDING H. YOST

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—The large expansion of football relations this year between the Middle West and the South is a matter of great interest to me.

In all 27 games are scheduled between teams of the sections. The Middle West in this instance is the [illegible] between the Ohio [illegible] of the Missouri.

Only six more games are listed between this section and the East, where relations have been in existence almost from the beginning of football.

Games with the South are not new to the Middle West. Vanderbilt and Indiana met in 1899. When the Commodores won from Minnesota this year it was their 15th meeting with a Big Ten team.

Tulane, Southern Methodist, Georgia Tech, Florida and the two Mississippi State schools have played northern teams a number of times.

This is the first year, however, the number of important games has reached double figures.

Victorious northern teams thus far include Northwestern, Notre Dame, Purdue and Nebraska. The other winners have been Vanderbilt, Centenary, Florida and Southern Methodist. [illegible] could not reach a decision.

Mid-West Teams Lead

While it means nothing, it is interesting to note the scores of all these games total 126 for the South and 131 for the Middle West.

If I could find the score of an [illegible] game not listed above [illegible] is only a point or two [illegible] separate the totals.

The games remaining to be played on southern gridirons largely are between teams of the transmississippi country of the Middle West and teams west of the big river in the South.

Southern Football Grows

"Football interest in the South has reached a new height," a visitor to several southern football camps said on returning here recently.

"The 1929 record of southern teams, the better conditions for play in southern high schools and the college victories in intersectional contests have centered interest in the fall sport.

"In the offices of one southern railroad I saw the handbills of the road offering to sell not only transportation to the game, but also tickets to the contest itself. This, to me, was a new angle to college sports."

If this year's widespread competition [illegible] of a new [illegible] between sections it should be an interesting one.

TUFTS-B. U. IN ANNUAL GAME

Boston University's badly battered eleven will attempt to upset grid dope at Nickerson Field, Weston, and send Tufts a 10 to 6 favorite down to defeat this afternoon. Tufts has won the last two battles between the two local elevens and its chances of making it three straight are more than [illegible].

Tufts' big advantage lies in its reserve strength. Mahl has good replacement for every position and is not the least bit worried about [illegible].

Coach Mahaney of B. U. however, will only have twenty men available today and he will be forced to keep his linemen in the game as long as they can stand

Plan Amateur Ice Team for Olympics

Strenuous efforts will be made by the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States during the next few months to stimulate country-wide interest in amateur ice hockey to the end that the United States may be represented by a hockey team worthy of the country in the third winter Olympic games, to be held at Lake Placid, N. Y., between February 4 and 13, 1932.

Plans have been under-way in each district association of the A. A. U. to place the sport on a strictly amateur basis, and arrange for leagues and championship tournaments. The Amateur Athletic Union has been admitted to membership in the Ligue Internationale de Hockey sur Glace, the body which makes the international rules for hockey and the rules which govern at the Olympic Games.

The failure of this country to be represented at the last Olympic Games by an ice hockey team was a keen disappointment to all American hockey enthusiasts and it is to prevent a repetition that the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, at the request of the United States Amateur Hockey Association, which formerly exercised jurisdiction over the sport, has reluctantly taken over the control of ice hockey.

Must Be Citizens

Hockey players must be citizens of the United States by birth or naturalization to be eligible to compete for the United States in the Olympic Games. Therefore clubs, colleges and athletic organizations developing teams in the hope that they may be qualified to carry the colors of the United States in the Olympic hockey championships in 1932 should confine their teams to United States citizens.

The official rules have been published and are now being distributed by the district associations of the A. A. U. in the different sections where hockey is played.

It is planned to hold a championship tournament this season (1930-31) in each of the A. A. U. district associations where hockey is played. It is also planned to bring together the west coast winners, the central winners and eastern winners in their respective sections and the winning team in each of these sectional tournaments will meet to [illegible] championship of the United States.

Although it has not yet been determined how the team will be selected to represent the United States in the Olympic games, it is probable that a few of the best teams competing in the [illegible] championship will be brought together early in November or December 1931 in a series of games to decide the team to represent this country in the Olympic championships.

All hockey players other than those playing on college, university or school teams, must be registered with the Amateur Athletic Union in the district of their residence. The members of college, university and school teams may be certified by the authorized representative of the college, university or school or they may be registered. Special forms are required for certification or registration, which may be had by applying to the chairman of the A. A. U. registration committee in the district in which the team has its headquarters.

"Little 3" Title at Stake at Amherst

Amherst, Nov. 15—Amherst and Williams clash on Pratt field this afternoon in the final and deciding game of the Little Three series.

A crowd of approximately 9000 is expected to witness this encounter, in which both teams bring the season to a close.

The winning team will gain the coveted Little Three crown, as Amherst and Wesleyan fought to a 19 to 19 tie October 25, and the latter was routed by the Royal Purple, 40 to 0, a week ago.

Williams is a heavy favorite, but the Lord Jeffs can be expected to put up their best fight of the year, in spite of the fact they will enter the tilt without the services of several stars, outstanding among whom is Bob Greenough, the first-string quarterback.

Stevens Signs to Coach Yale in '31

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 15 (US)—The Yale Athletic Association announces that Dr. Marvin A. Stevens had been re-engaged as head coach of the football team for the 1931 season.

Stevens' original contract which was for the term of three years will expire at the end of the present season. The announcement said nothing concerning the services of the members of the staff.

Callahan Answers Fuller

ANDY SAYS HE WILL WIN BY K. O.

By MR. BOSTON

Sammy Fuller sure did get under Andy Callahan's skin with his threat to take the Lawrence Thunderbolt's forfeit if the latter weighs over 135 pounds in their 10-round New England lightweight championship battle which will be staged by the Argonne A. A. at the New Boston Arena on next Monday night.

Callahan popped off with plenty of fire.

"When I fought Fuller at Tiverton, R. I., he was overweight," piped Andy. "I was under 135 pounds and tossed enough gloves at Fuller to cut him to ribbons. He got the decision, merely because he proved he could stand up under punishment.

"I'll weigh in at ringside for Fuller and still be under 135 pounds. And when I get through with the weighing-in ceremonies, I'll knock Fuller as cold as a mackerel."

A couple of friendly kids, eh?

It is seldom you find two boxers who are as earnest about knocking out the other fellow as Callahan and Fuller are. There is more real feeling existing between these boxers and their respective camps than has surrounded any local bout in years.

There is as much tenseness surrounding this match as existed when Sharkey and Maloney quarreled in New York.

Coming Bout Is Third Between Pair

It will be the third time that Fuller and Callahan have clashed. Andy won the first bout, Sammy the second. Each tussle was jammed with thrills. Now the boys intend to produce even more action.

I wouldn't be surprised if there is a knockout Monday night. Callahan and Fuller each can thump like nobody's business. And with the bitter rivalry existing between them they are sure to cast aside safety first tactics and punch it out.

Eddie Mack of the Argonne A. A., who is donating 50 per cent of his profits to the Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston Evening American reports a large advance sale. He looks for a capacity crowd when the rival lightweights whirl into action.

Lightweights have always been popular in New England. They furnish heavy punching as well as speedy action.

The Merrimack Valley will send thousands of fans to Boston to root for a Callahan victory. Andy is the most popular boxer to come out of Lawrence since Young Kloby was at the height of his fistic glory.

The North End will back Fuller. Thousands of Italians from other sections in New England will also be on hand to root for the American Pancho Villa.

[illegible] Vanneryck of Lawrence and Vincent Trescott of Cambridge will get tangled up in an eight-round semi-final. There will also be a flock of four rounders between local boys who have always gone over big with the cash customers. The four rounders are paired as follows:

Joe Schotz, Cambridge, vs. Charlie Nava, Plymouth.

Eddie Forrest, New Bedford, vs. Billy Baker, Dorchester.

Joe Vincha, Boston, vs. Tom McNeeley, Cambridge.

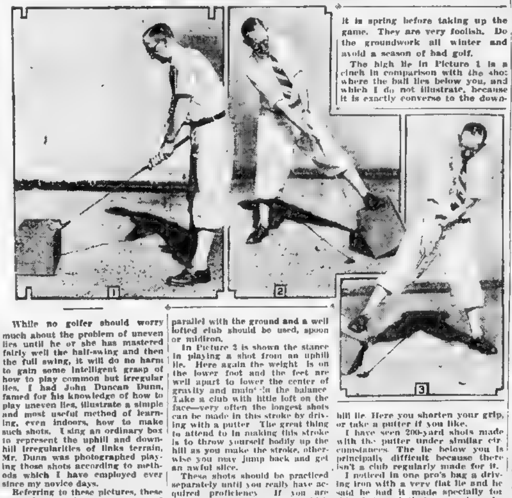
HORTON SMITH'S GOLF LESSONS

Famous Young Missouri Professional Illustrates and Describes the Mechanics and Technique of Play

ON PLAYING UNEVEN LIES



While no golfer should worry much about the problem of uneven lies until he or she has mastered fairly well the half-swing and then the full swing, it will do no harm to gain some intelligent grasp of how to play common but irregular lies. I had John Duncan Dunn, famed for his knowledge of how to play uneven lies, illustrate a simple and most useful method of learning, even indoors, how to make such shots. Using an ordinary box to represent the uphill and downhill irregularities of links terrain, Mr. Dunn was photographed playing those shots according to methods which I have employed ever since my novice days.

Referring to these pictures, these principles of play may prove of some help to your game in the situations mentioned. Picture 3 shows a downhill lie and, as you can see, the weight is mostly on the lower foot. The club is swung parallel with the ground and a well lofted club should be used, spoon or midiron.

In Picture 2 is shown the stance in playing a shot from an uphill lie. Here again the weight is on the lower foot and the feet are well apart to lower the center of gravity and maintain the balance. Take a club with little loft on the face—very often the longest shots can be made in this stroke by driving with a putter. The great thing to attend to in making this stroke is to throw yourself bodily up the hill as you make the stroke, otherwise you may jump back and get an awful slice.

These shots should be practiced separately until you really have acquired proficiency. If you are having a lesson in the open, which of course is the best place to learn these shots, get your instructor to play the shots—many of them—and watch him carefully.

Up North most people wait until it is spring before taking up the game. They are very foolish. Do the groundwork all winter and avoid a season of bad golf.

The high lie in Picture 1 is a cinch in comparison with the shot where the ball lies below you, and which I do not illustrate, because it is exactly converse to the downhill lie. Here you shorten your grip, or take a putter if you like.

I have seen 200-yard shots made with the putter under similar circumstances. The lie below you is principally difficult because there isn't a club regularly made for it.

I noticed in one pro's bag a driving iron with a very flat lie and he said he had it made specially for this shot and that, ever since he had the club made, he had never had occasion to use it. It might make all the difference in a championship, however.

Canzoneri Agrees to Box Callahan or Fuller

By GEORGE B. UNDERWOOD
SPORTS EDITOR

New York, Nov. 15—"I will be glad to give to winner of the Fuller-Callahan duel for the New England lightweight title, [illegible] the big Christmas fund show in Boston next Monday, a shot at my world's championship crown."

So declared Tony Canzoneri, the new world's lightweight champion in the dressing room ten minutes after the Brooklyn Italian had won the lightweight championship of the universe from Al Singer in Madison Square Garden, in the shortest championship bout since Terry McGovern knocked out Pedlar Palmer at Tuckahoe, a quarter of a century ago.

"I understand that Fuller and Callahan are two of the best boys developed in New England in many years," went on the new champion. "My manager, Sammy Goldman, only this afternoon told me the Callahan-Fuller bout was such a 'natural' that he might go to Boston to see it. I want to prove myself a real champion and am ready to take on all comers. That is why I am willing to meet New England's best."

Sammy [illegible] Pete Herman, former world's bantam champion and Canzoneri got his first boxing [illegible] from working with the New Orleans star.

"Tony knocked out Singer in such jig time that it is only natural Al will want a return bout. We will give him first call on Canzoneri's services. After that Tony will fight the Fuller-Callahan winner or anyone."

Fight Lasted Only 66 Seconds

Ten minutes before Canzoneri was talking to the sporting edito of the Boston Evening America he knocked Al Singer colder tha a pickled herring with a smash o left hook to the jaw. Exactly on minute and six seconds after th clang of the opening gong th count was completed over Singe and Canzoneri's hand was rais in token of his being the ne world's lightweight champion.

Veterans among the big crowd that packed Madison Square Garden from cellar to dome declared the bout was just as sensational as Terrible Terry McGovern's knockout of Pedlar Palmer for the world's bantamweight title.

The knockout came so quick and sensationally that the big gathering was dumbfounded. Singer had entered the ring a topheavy favorite. During the afternoon the odds layers were laying 3 to 1 on Singer.

The odds had tightened to 2½ to 1 at ring time. Experts practically were unanimous in picking Singer to retain his world's

Sherry Seeks Return Match

Senatorial 'Balance of Power' Speaks Over WNAC at 9:30

The voice of the man whose vote in the next Senate may determine which major party shall dominate that body, Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota, the Farmer-Laborite, will be heard over a CBS chain including WNAC from 9:30 to 10 p. m. tonight. Senator Shipstead will give his views on forthcoming legislation; the topic chosen by him is "Future National Legislation."

By virtue of his two victories in that overwhelmingly Republican state, the Farmer-Laborite is considered the leading political figure in Minnesota. He is a member of the Senate Committee of Foreign Relations and Agriculture.

A restatement of the Minnesotan's views on topics to come before the Senate is awaited with interest because of the unique place he will hold in that chamber. Due to the even distribution of Democratic and Republican candidates who have been elected to the Senate, Shipstead may hold the senatorial balance of power since he is affiliated with neither party. His radio address tonight is expected to show toward which party he leans.

Concerning Radio

Edited by BILL WHIPPLE

So many and important are the radio programs scheduled for this week-end, we feel that we'd be playing low down with you if we did not enumerate the best of them, in place of painting a vivid word picture of what the well dressed announcer will wear this winter, a subject we had in mind to discuss in this issue. And that's a mighty important theme, too—to the announcer.

But before listing the week-end offerings we wish to pass on to you the rumor which has reached our ears. Said information tells us that a great number of radio fans will be disappointed to learn that the Boston Tigers hockey games will not be broadcast this season because the Tigers' management and station WLEX, which have heretofore put them on the air, have been unable to agree. Coupled with the fact that Joe Sager, one of Boston's premier sportsmen, will no longer play Santa Claus for the re-creation of the Bruins out-of-town games, it leaves local ether channels void of any mention of one of winter's most popular sports.

And now for the week-end programs. Tonight through WBZ-WBZA from 9 to 10 o'clock (central standard time) the beloved opera, "Manon," by Massenet, will be heard. It is the third presentation by NBC in the current season of the Chicago Civic Opera. Mary McCormic, in the title role, will be heard singing the fine vocal gavotte, "Hear the Voice of Youth." Other famous stars to be heard during the production will include Charles Hackett, Jean Vieuille and Eduard Cotreuil, with Emil Cooper conducting the opera.

This evening, from 8:30 to 9:00 o'clock, through WEAF and the NBC network, sketches and resonant melodies of the "Deep South" will be presented. The series has been named after the song, "Careless Love." These dramatic skits will be based on the ballads and blues songs that are part of the lore of the simple Negro folks of the cypress swamps, the turpentine camps in the pine forests and of the levees.

Late this afternoon, 5:00 to 6:00 o'clock, over WEEI, Alma and Paul Vivano, Capitol Theater and RKO piano artists, will feature two interesting broadcasts. During the special children's program conducted by Caroline Cabot, this two-piano team will play Saint Saens' famous "Carnival of Animals." This work by Saint Saens is seldom heard, as only one movement of the suite was ever published, that of "The Swan." In addition to this children's program, Alma and Paul will give a two-piano recital over WEEI from 8:30 to 8:45.

The high-light of Sunday's broadcasts will be on the air over WNAC from 3:00 to 5:00 o'clock, when Arturo Toscanini, conducting the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra, will feature a Bach-Respighi arrangement of "Three Chorales," and which will be heard for the first time over the Columbia System.

Also tomorrow afternoon at 5.00 o'clock, Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, will broadcast over WEEI the stirring climaxes to each of the four operas forming Wagner's musical cycle of the Nibelungen Ring. For sheer grandeur and splendor there are few musical compositions equaling the music of this saga of the legendary gods and heroes of the North.

Two other important programs, which we feel should not be omitted from these columns, are Josef Hofmann, who will be the artist of the Atwater Kent Radio Hour, tomorrow evening at 9:15 over WEEI, and the gala birthday program which is scheduled by the genial Maj. Bowes and his Capitol "Family" of radio fame, to celebrate the eighth anniversary of this organization. Over the NBC Network at 8:00 o'clock.

NEW SLOGAN!
JOIN OUR ORCHESTRA AND SEE THE WORLD!

A new angle to an old idea will be heard over WBZA at 8:30 tonight on the fuller program when the orchestra dances its way on an imaginary tour of various cities throughout the country. Programs have wended their way around the world, but never a dance orchestra program. The group starts in Toronto, and will include imaginary visits to points of interest in the Dominion City.

Among the interesting legends taken of the Iroquois tribes, members of which once inhabited the Niagara frontier, is a fanciful story concerning the creation of two of their necessary foods, corn and beans. This will be told by Francis D. Bowman as the prologue to the Carborundum band program over WNAC at 9 tonight.

Football Scores on WLEX Tonight

All those interested, the number almost countless, according to telephone and mail responses, will again hear the final football returns of the major contests throughout the United States, coming over the radio through Station WLEX and sponsored by Bob Berger, restaurateur of 256 Tremont st.

High lights of the Holy Cross-Harvard battle will feature the announcements to be heard tonight at 6:30 from the Boston studios of the station. In arranging for the broadcast of the scores each week, Bob Berger also secured Newcomb F. Thompson to put the scores on the air for him.

Worcester Couple Cleared in Death

Worcester, Nov. 15—Harry Harrington of the Department of Justice in Boston, today announced that he placed no credence in the alleged implication of Leo J. White and his wife Myrtle of Worcester in the murder of Mary Baker in Washington last April.

Harrington came here upon notification of Schnectady (N. Y.) police that Harry Allard, 25, had made a written confession of the murder of the Baker girl, naming White and his wife as accomplices.

Assisted by Worcester police detectives, Harrington spent most of the night grilling White, and communicated several times with Schenectady police. It was found that Allard signed White's name to his confession, and stated that Mrs. White knew a "lot about the murder."

Schenectady police reported their belief that the confession is an attempt to cover up the theft of an auto and illegal carrying of a weapon charges placed against Allard.

LETTERS FROM READERS

Letters from readers on current subjects are welcomed. Letters should not exceed 250 words in length, should be written on one side of the paper, and must bear the writer's name. Name will be omitted in publication if requested. Address Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop sq.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

Your work in the Municipal Employment Bureau should be highly commended. Which it is, I am sure. For an observer to see those poor men and women waiting for employment is a sorrowful sight; wanting a chance to work to support themselves and families. It seems great that your paper should take an interest in these poor unfortunates by trying to help find employment for them.

In such times as these, where jobs and money are so scarce, such a helping hand as yours to relieve the situation is highly appreciated by everyone.

Many a man and woman has been made happier by your earnest efforts.

LEO ADELMAN.

Dr. Bogan Indorsed for School Hygiene Head

Editor Boston American:

Let me say I have been a constant reader of the Boston American for many years of my life. It gives me pleasure to read your editorial page. Every red blooded American should read this snappy, up-to-the-minute paper. The Hearst papers, as every citizen knows, are staunch advocates of true Americanism.

I was particularly pleased to read your endorsement of Dr. Bogan as School Hygiene Head. He certainly is well qualified by experience. Whately rightly said "Experience, in its strict sense, applies to what has occurred within a person's own knowledge." Dr. Frederick L. Bogan has for many years been a respected citizen, a popular figure in the public life and medical profession of Boston. He has served as Chairman of the Boston School Committee with credit not only to himself but also to the citizens of good old Boston. He has been regarded as a specialist in ailments which afflict school children and grown-ups as well.

I had the privilege of serving with him in the Old Ninth Infantry, MVM, the regiment commanded by his father, Col. Fred B. Bogan, during the war with Spain—a man that was loved and respected not only by the Fighting Ninth Infantry, United States Volunteers, but by the citizens of this great commonwealth which we all love in peace and war

I had occasion to visit the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary for treatment where I first met Dr Bogan in his professional life. At that time he was regarded as a specialist for the eye and ear of no mean reputation. He has since fitted glasses for me on many occasions with success

I am proud to call Dr. Bogan one of my old friends, dependable and trustworthy, a loyal defender of the flag, the Red, White, and Blue, for which our fathers died, and if need be, for which we will die in its defense. He has served his country and his fellowmen devotedly, has wide experience, and is especially equipped to supervise the health of the children in so widespread an institution as the Boston school department.

Yours very truly,
J. LEO MOLLOY,
Ret. Q M. C., 9th Inf., Mass. N. G.

Hit and Run Driver Cartoon Wins Praise

Editor Boston American

I like that cartoon in your paper about the hit and run drivers of autos. I hope many of them saw it and they will let their conscience work over time. I think the time has arrived in this state on account of the number of these drivers increasing, that we should have new luminous automobile license plates. This is now the law in Melbourne, Australia, and you can see the numbers thus lighted, several blocks away

This is worth trying

Luxury Tax Urged as Real Estate Relief

Editor Boston American:

Your work in advising home owners to have repairs made now, is certainly as much to their own advantage as it is to the workman

They are most apt to receive good work at a reasonable price now in the winter time, when home repairs are not as rushed, as they are in the spring

I believe that if a tax was placed on luxuries, and turned over to the city, real estate taxes could be reduced, thereby enabling home owners to feel that they could afford more repairs to their property

These luxury taxes are never felt like the heavy burden of real estate taxes. Here is a suggestion for some of our able representatives to think over.

NEW CHEVROLET MODELS GO ON DISPLAY

Chevrolet's new car for 1931 priced from $20 to $40 below current levels was put on display today throughout the nation

Heralded as "the great American value," the new car has a two-inch increase in wheelbase, larger and roomier bodies by Fisher with mohair or broadcloth as optional trimming, and several refinements in appearance and performance. The new prices bring the level for the 1931 car to a lower figure than any Chevrolet, four or six, has ever sold

SHOWING ADVANCED

The new models were put on display nearly two months in advance of the customary date for the showing of the annual new car. Advancing the announcement date, it was felt by Chevrolet officials, would render a contribution to the cause of general business revival by insuring activity during two normally dull months for the 200,000 people throughout the United States who depend directly upon Chevrolet for their livelihood.

The 19 domestic production plants of the Chevrolet organization are now in full swing on the new model, according to W S Knudsen, president, and shipments are going out to dealers to assure immediate delivery of all models

EASIER STEERING

Among improvements are a fully insulated front compartment, easier steering, more durable clutch, smoother and quieter transmission and liberal use of rustless chromium plate on exposed bright parts. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, and fully enclosed, weatherproof four-wheel brakes continue as standard equipment

In the line of nine body types are three open models the roadster phaeton and sport roadster and six closed types, the coach sedan, special sedan the three-window coupe, the five window coupe and the sport coupe

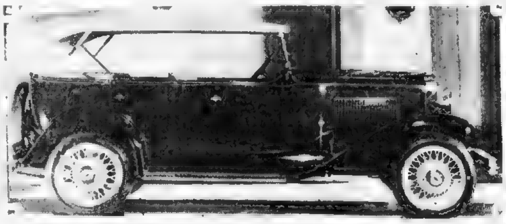
All sport models come equipped with the new and popular chrome plated radiator grille. All models have smart new wire wheels, with 4.75 by 19 tires, as standard equipment. Hubs are very large, of the concealed bolt type, with hub caps of gleaming chromium plate set off by a black ring circling the Chevrolet emblem in the center. Wheel finishes harmonize with the wide variety of body combinations

VISION IMPROVED

Better vision is made possible from the drivers seat by slightly lowering the seat and raising the header bar which runs across the top of the windshield. A further aid to clear vision for the driver is the new narrow stamped pillar at the ends of the windshield

The interiors of all bodies have been redesigned to take advantage of extra roominess provided by the two-inch increase in wheelbase The result is a "big car" effect in the interior, just as the added sweep to the exterior body lines

Bigger and Better Chevrolet on Display



A LARGER AND SMARTER Chevrolet automobile makes its appearance on the showroom floors today. A longer wheelbase, bodies by Fisher, stronger frame and easier steering are features of the new model, which will be put on sale at a slight cut in price.

W.C.T.U. IN DEFI TO ANTIS

Houston, Tex., Nov. 15 (AP)—Its battle gage flung, the Women's Christian Temperance Union turned today to departmental matters in its 56th annual national convention here

Mrs Ella A Boole, president, in her annual address, emphasized the need for educational work and called on delegates to remember the new slogan "observance and enforcement not repeal," a phrase which dominated her speech.

President Hoover meanwhile, had sent his "cordial greetings" to the convention and expressed his "profound sense of the value of their work, both in behalf of higher ideals of life and public service and aid of law enforcement."

Mrs Boole dismissed wet gains in the general election as having been caused, not solely by the prohibition issue, but by a number of others issues, including the tariff, hard times and personalities

"BUY NOW"

Advertising Claims

During the past six months the Boston Better Business Bureau has checked hundreds of advertisements containing representations that there was a material advantage to the public, on the question of 1929 and present prices, in buying such advertised merchandise now. In practically every investigation the Bureau has found such representations to be statements of fact.

In agreement with advertised statements to that effect, prices are lower and have been lower than 1929 prices and, in many instances, are lower than they have been for years.*

Many business groups are of the opinion that the price advantages in "buying now" cannot continue to the same extent once surplus merchandise, already partially disposed of, has been fully distributed

Lucifer Matches

These came into use about 1834. Friction matches were invented by an Englishman named Walker in 1829. In 1845 Schrotter of Vienna invented a process of treating phosphorus which made matches less dangerous.

This Day in History

Pike's Peak was discovered by Zebulon Montgomery Pike, November 15, 1806. Lieut. Pike of the U. S. Army was heading an exploring expedition through the Arkansas and Red River country when he reached the peak.

Gangster Girl

By JACK LAIT

CHAPTER 20

ANNIE'S TAXI braked up before a shabby and colorless building, the Victoria Hotel, on a side street, west of Central park in the 70's. The office was on the second floor. If one took the stairs, the clerk couldn't see from his regular position who came or went. Maybe that was why the Victory was usually crowded jamfull for all manner of illicit trysts behind locked doors in the dingy chambers.

Annie walked. She turned at the fourth landing and unlocked the door of Room 441. As she threw the switch a single hanging bulb shot pale rays over a medium-sized room with a bed [illegible] a plain chair, a lame dresser, a washstand and a clothestree. The furnishings were in keeping with the [illegible]

"Tommy boy!" she cried, and [illegible] to him.

A Straight Talk

"Annie," he began, "you and I must have a straight talk—"

"Yes—sure. But—who hurt you? What is it?"

"Oh, I got that in Freeman's flat when we rekidnaped Alice. It's nothing."

"Tommy boy—before you spill yours, let me tell you what you got to know. Freeman has put the finger on you . . . you know what that means?"

"I—I think I do—I thought about it, myself."

"Your life ain't worth a nickel as long as he lives. He'll chase you 30,000 miles an' croak you in a church. Ord'narily they drop you if you blow away, but when they're vindictive, the world ain' big enough to save you. Didn't they put Eddia Diamond on the spot in Denver after he quit an' went out West to die o' T. B., Tommy boy? Didn' they take Fat Walsh in Miama, a long way from Broadway?

"Freeman has always killed for stric'ly business, an' bragged he had no passions. But he's found a few lately. An' among 'em, strong, is revenge.

"He hates your soul. Even if you [illegible] let him muscle you out of your own propity, he'll still have you bumped off. Say—in my home town a gangster by the name of Nails Morton hired a horse one day an' went ridin' in Lincoln Park. The horse threw him an' stepped on his head an' they picked up his body all bunged up.

"What do you think one o' the big shots in his mob went an' done? He goes to the same livery stable, hires that same horse, rides him out to a lonely spot in the park, gets down, pulls a gat an' shoots the horse in the forehead.

"That's gang law."

"But—why do you tell me all this?"

"Because I love you, you d—n handsome fool!"

She ran to meet him and knelt at his feet and turned up her fascinating face.

"Kiss me, boy," she breathed. And the hot blood of youth and manhood burnt out all other considerations—doubts, fears, even self-preservation—when he answered the call of her crimson lips with his own.

"Freeman Must Die"

"Tommy, lover," gasped Annie. "You don't know how I love you. But you will. I must show you, I must prove it to you . . . as long as Silk Freeman lives your death sentence hangs over you. So there's only one way out . . . Freeman is got to die!"

Tommy looked down at her in amazement. How hotly this strange girl could talk of love and how coldly she could talk of death.

He wondered at himself, too, for a fortnight back of him he would have shuddered at the idea of assassinating a human being. He had seen and heard much since then. He didn't shudder now. He was about to let her continue—but a few flashes passed through his brain. He held up his hand.

"Annie," he said, "I'm crazy about you. That I know. You say you are about me. I want to believe you."

"You WANT to believe me? My God! Lemme finish—"

"Not just yet. Freeman is as rich as he is rotten. He can pay high. What assurance have I that all this you're telling me isn't an elaborate plan to win my confidence, stifle any possible suspicion and put ME on the spot?"

Annie laughed. And tears ran down her cheeks.

"You ain't wrong—much Tommy boy at this minute—I'll tell you that part of it—Silk is waitin' a call from me that I've GOT you on a spot—an' two killers is waitin' ready to come up an' settle you where I say."

Young Gillespie jumped up.

"What!"

"Sit down, Tommy boy—an' rest the sore gam. You ain't heard the half of it. I got nothin' against Freeman. He's [illegible] with me. I wouldn' double-cross him for [illegible] or for nothin' on earth excep' one—an' that's you."

"You admit you're a double-crosser—and you want me to trust you—with my life the price of it?"

"Exac'ly. Your life is the price o' that trust. If you don' trust me, you'll pay with it. If you do, I'll buy it for you—with Freeman's life."

"I'm gonna kill Silk Freeman!"

"You? Yourself? Why, you surely——"

"Never mind, lover. I never told you before, but it won' be no virgin job for me. I'm all prepared."

"But—why yourself? I can't—"

"Who else can I get to do it? I can't go to [illegible] then. They'd cut my [illegible] I [illegible] out o' the room. I can't let you [illegible] 'em run you down [illegible]

"I've laid up nights figgerin' this all out. I got it set like clockwork. Remember when I said I'd kill for you? I had it all in my noodle then.

"I'm gonna croak him for my Tommy boy in the mornin' . . . one more night with you—the last."

[illegible]

"Why the last? If you love me—"

"The last! I can't do this wit'out leavin' a trail like a truck t'rough a sand pile. If they ketch me they'll take me for a ride an' kill me an' weight my carcass with lead an' sink me in a river. But they won't. I got my getaway all framed pretty too. I can disappear. I ain' got no identity, anyway. You have. Tall Tom Gillespie's kid can't disappear. Polack Annie—yeh, that's my monicker, lover—can take on a new name an' a new racket an' a new country, too—an' what'll hurt worse'n all the rest'll be—she can take on new hair!"

"Oh—you wouldn't!

"Yep. Got to. I'll be the mos' famous red-head aroun' the globe an hour after they pick up Silk Freeman's body. But I'll be a brunette by then. So look at the old flamin' top good—it's givin' its last show—to an audience o' one."

No More Doubt

Tommy stared at her. He was only a boy. His brief underworld contacts had not really hardened him or changed his nature. He adored this throbbing, astonishing [illegible] woman [illegible] beauty of a siren, the courage and brutality of a gang [illegible] girl who could betray and murder and sacrifice and love—this blend of passion and romance and treachery and manslaughter.

He could no longer seriously doubt her. She had come clean to him—had confessed that there was murder in her heart, had admitted she had done murder before [illegible] frankly granted that she had taken an [illegible] from Freeman to win him and lead him into the path of the garlic-soaked bullets which this time would pierce him in spots more vital than his calf.

And she was holding out her arms to him—those shapely white arms born to embrace a mother and a lover rather than to support the deadly weight of gun-metal and lead.

"Tommy boy," she whispered, "you're not the first man I ever loved. I did love one—my Edgewater Kid. They chopped him down with typewriters becus I loved him. Many a tough guy went down never to stand up again over that. But even the kid wasn't to me what you are to me.

"He cared for me—sure. But he was a gangster, after all, an' I was his kind. He gimme his life—an' he done it with his eyes wide open—an' that was all he had to give. But you—you're young, you're rich, you're ejucated—an' you're engaged to a s'ciety twist—"

"I'm not! That's all over!"

"Fine. I'll pay you off for that, too, before sunrise. You—Thomas Gillespie, Jr., you asked me to marry you!"

"I did. I meant it. I mean it now!"

"I know, lover. "It's impossible. I knew that all along: But you asked me—an' you wasn' jus' good-timin' me—me. Polack Annie. From that moment, boy, you owned me. You touched a spot that never was touched before—a spot I didn't even know I had. You put yourself on THAT spot. Thank the saints it was me Freeman picked to put you on another kind.

With a Smile

"Boy, I'll slip Freeman [illegible] a smile on my pan like I did Kinky King when I thought he banged off my Kid an' like I did Goldie Gorlo with his own gold-plated [illegible] I knew he did [illegible] law [illegible] and I'm my own judge, jury an' executioner. But you'll live. Half—you'll be the finish o' Silk Freeman—an' that's more'n all the coppers an' enemies an' crooked rats in his own mob can ever say—an' any one of 'em would [illegible] did it a million times if they'd had the guts.

"He's got 'em hypped. I tell you. If he was in China, they'd jump at their own shadows. But we'll see if he's human or not. We'll see if he'll bleed. Maybe [illegible]

Loss of Thyroid Serious

Mysterious Secretions Are Stopped

By R. S. COPELAND, M. D.

WE POSSESS several varieties of glands. Among them is the thyroid—one of the "ductless" group which have a decided effect upon growth, health and the general well-being of the body.

Dr. Copeland

All of us are familiar with the appearance of the person who has an enlargement of the thyroid gland. It is the condition known as goitre. In such a case there is swelling of the neck, and often certain nervous symptoms. But today I wish to speak about the opposite condition. I want to tell you what happens when there has been removal or destruction of the gland.

The absence of the usual secretions of the thyroid gland causes an unpleasant condition known as "myxedema." The patient suffering from myxedema presents a characteristic appearance. The face is somewhat swollen, and the skin is usually dry and rough, as there is little perspiration. The hair is harsh and falls out readily.

Myxedema may result from disease and withering of the thyroid gland or it may follow the removal of the gland. It has also been thought to be the result of worry or sudden nervous shock. Women seem to be somewhat more susceptible to myxedema than men.

"Cretinism" is a similar condition found in children. It is due to congenital absence of the thyroid gland, or to disease in very early life, causing withering of the gland.

Since absence of the thyroid secretion is responsible for the symptoms, the natural treatment is the administration of extracts made from the thyroid glands of animals. But under no circumstances should this powerful remedy be given except under the physician's supervision. He, and only he, is in a position to determine whether such medication is called for and if it is, what dosage is best.

I have told you about myxedema for your general information and because there is today, such widespread interest in these mysterious but all-powerful glands of ours. We should know about them and the ills to which they are heir.

In the treatment of myxedema—which is a serious ailment—there are certain measures which are worth bearing in mind. For instance, a warm climate or artificial warmth will keep the patient more comfortable. Hot applications to the neck and massage will help to stimulate the gland.

Conservative Investors Now Buying Stocks

Check-Up Reveals Many Leading Issues Off 50 P. C. From Highs

—By B. C. FORBES—

New York, Nov. 15—The most onservative of investors are now uying stocks. Industrial issues ead in favor. ertain shrewd udges are picking up public tility issues ow that they ave descended o a price basis ielding a reasonable income. or the long ull—say five or 0 years—railoads are not articular popu- r. Some are hoosing well-nown bank tocks now that uotations have eclined drastically.

B. C. Forbes

Much is said and written about he severe fall in commodity rices. Few commodities, however, ave tumbled as much as stocks. opper was quoted up yesterday at ¼ cents, but one manufacturer ells me that he offered spot cash or a thousand tons at 9½ cents ut without finding a seller.

There are plenty of shares available at half their top price of the resent year. Not a few have allen more than 50 per cent. mong high-priced railway and inustrial issues there have been delines this year exceeding $100 a hare.

Conditions are not booming, of ourse. Sentiment admittedly is still pessimistic.

That is why you can pick up tocks at the prices now ruling. Bargains will not stay available in- [illegible]tely.

Baking Company's Earnings Are Big

Philadelphia, Nov. 15—Big earnngs, only slightly below those of ast year, are reported by the Horn & Hardart Baking Co. The company reports for year ended Sept. 0 net profit of $1,462,161 after harges, depreciation and federal axes, equal to $14.93 a share on he 97,970 shares, against $1,497,-558, or $15.30 a share, in the preceding year.

$2,000,000 in Gold Is From Argentine

New York, Nov. 15—Banco de la acion of Argentina is shipping $2,000,000 gold to Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. on S. S. Western Prince, sailing from Buenos Aires, Nov. 17.

COPPER ACTION IS WATCHED IN BOSTON

By FRANK H. MELOON

Fresh activity and constructive efforts within the copper industry are being watched by many Boston investors. This city was once the primary market for copper shares. Money to develop most of the big American mines was obtained through the medium of the Boston Stock Exchange and our financiers of an earlier day. Advancing prices for the red metal and for copper shares this week have been reflecting the curtailment movement, the actual results of which remain to be seen.

When you say Notre Dame, people think of a gentleman named Rockne. But in days to come they may also think of Edward N Hurley, wartime Shipping Board director and Federal Trade Commission chairman under the late President Wilson. Mr. Hurley's $200,000 gift to Notre Dame to add a College of Finance and Business to the Indiana University is in line with the Baker Foundation at Cambridge and the Tuck Foundation at Dartmouth. Oddly enough, the founders of all three of these are still living, two at advanced ages.

Another classroom is named in honor of President James A. Farrell of U. S. Steel, also a New Englander. A third bears the name of President Gerard Swope of General Electric, who received his early education at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

• • •

Mr. Hurley, an outstanding authority on American shipping, is an enthusiast regarding Boston as a natural gateway for shipping. He anticipates considerable future development here. Depth of channel, extensive anchorage and many miles of waterfront are among the local advantages he points out. He sees Boston as the natural outlet for our great manufacturing industries.

Today's News of Live Stocks in Wall Street

The copper shares have been favored by aggressive demand, but in the later stage of their advance the buying has assumed a more speculative character than the informed buying of the past fortnight. The rapid advance in the price of the metal might bring about an undesired reaction if carried to unwarranted extent, since many marginal producers would be permitted to maintain operations and thereby threaten the curtailment program.

Copper Seen as Likely to Lead Business Up

However, the stock market, as reflecting general sentiment, is inclined to accept the change in the copper situation as possibly marking the definite turn in the entire business world. Certainly, it will influence other industries to attempt stabilization by somewhat similar measures. The market is fully cognizant of the significance of the copper news, and is awaiting only a few more signs of undebatable improvement in major industries to accept the verdict that the worst stage has been passed.

Merger Planned for Steam Shovel Makers

Negotiations are reported under way for merger of Bucyrus-Erie Co. with Marion Steam Shovel Co. Merger would bring together two of the largest steam shovel and equipment manufacturers in the country.

Container Corp.'s Business Improves

Container Corp. of America reports that, although July and August were poor months, marked improvement appeared in September. Bookings and shipments in September were the largest since October, 1929, and net profit for the month was larger than for the two previous months combined. This improvement continued through October, bookings and shipments for which should compare favorably with those of September.

Brown Boveri Runs Ahead of Last Year

Although volume of business on the books of American Brown Boveri Electric Corp. currently is substantially in excess of that for last year, and, in fact, larger than for some years past, indications are that the company will about "break even" from the standpoint of profit this year.

American Sugar in Commanding Position

Interests in the financial district identified with the sugar industry are of the opinion that the aggressive efforts which have been made for controlling the sales policy are beginning to bear fruit. In this connection attention is being attracted to American Sugar, which is in a commanding position in the industry. The major part of the company's profits are derived from refining operations and this gives the issue a speculative factor which is likely to become attractive to the trading element. It is maintained that no reduction in the dividend on American Sugar is contemplated at this time.

What Copper Rise Means to Nickel

International Nickel Co. of Canada is producing 8,000,000 pounds of copper a month at present. Capacity is 20,000,000 pounds a month. With production at 8,000,000 pounds a month, an increase of 2½ cents a pound in the price of copper would amount on paper to $200,000 a month.

Earnings Report Comparisons Made

	Since Oct. 1	Additions Yesterday
Increased earnings	175	4
Decreased earnings	285	4
Unchanged dividends	418	9
Increased dividends	40	1
Decreased dividends	22	1

Perhaps the Wife Will Read This

Last year a trader in a Broadway office purchased 100 shares of a certain stock and presented it to his wife as a Christmas present. Recently he purchased 1000 shares of the stock of the same company for the same amount he paid for 100 shares last year and will present it to his wife Christmas.

"As my wife hasn't followed the price of the stock," commented the trader, "she will think I am just 900 per cent more generous than last year."

General Railway Signal After Subway Work

General Railway Signal is after subway work in New York. The company was the low bidder on a cont. for signalling and interlocking equipment on the new 53rd st. Brooklyn-New York subway, with a bid of $2,178,000. Officials of the company appear confident that this order will be secured. It will add to the contracts on hand. The work is to be completed in 15 months after installation starts.

Hard to Satisfy All the People

Someone has remarked it is hard to satisfy all the people, and it might be added it is often hard to satisfy even some of the people, for example, the Interstate Commerce Commission. Proposal of Southern Pacific to acquire Union Belt Railway of Oakland, Cal., for $150,000 rejected by Interstate Commerce Commission on ground price was too high. When Western Pacific sought to acquire line, controlled by industrial concerns, commission disapproved, saying it should be operated by Southern Pacific.

BOSTON STOCK PRICES RISE ON WEEK-END

Prices rose in week-end trading on the Boston Stock Exchange. Boston & Providence was up 8 at 183. Economy Stores rose 3½ at 23.

Point or better gains appeared for Torrington, Union Twist Drill, New England Telephone, Pond Creek, Quincy, Mohawk and Boston Elevated common.

A few issues reacted moderately. Point or more recessions showed for Calumet & Hecla, Boston & Albany, Bigelow-Sanford and Edison.

Negotiation by Swift & Co. for acquisition of Neuhoff Packing Co. of Nashville has been confirmed by officials of Swift. Neuhoff Packing Co., a closed corporation, has a long record of profitable operation. It has made several expansions the past few years, chief among which was acquisition of White Provision Co. of Atlanta. Acquisition of Neuhoff by Swift would give the latter benefits of more economical distribution throughout the Southeast and would be in line with its policy of decentralized operations.

Ohio Edison Out of Transport Lines

Ohio Edison Co., subsidiary of Commonwealth D Southern Corp., has sold its interests in all of its transportation companies, including the Akron Transportation Co., Northern Ohio Interurban Co., Canton-Northern Ohio Interurban Co., Canton Traction Co. and the Cleveland-Akron-Canton Bus Co., to a new company, the Transportation Securities Corp. of New York. Value of the properties and amount of the sale is estimated around $14,000,000, with no exchange of stock involved.

Loew's Likely to Raise Its Dividend

New York, Nov. 15—Report of Loew's, Inc., for year ended Aug. 31 shows the largest earnings so far in its history. Net for the year was $14,600,332, equal after preferred dividends to $9.90 a share on 1,413,574 shares outstanding at end of the year. This compares with $11,756,956 or $7.91 a share on 1,363,933 shares in 1929. As a result of the substantial gain in profits it is probable that directors will increase the regular dividend rate to $4 from $3 at the November meeting.

Deficit to Efface Income Tax Cut

Washington, Nov. 15—The government will go into the next year with a deficit in revenue which will make the continuance of the 1 per cent income tax reduction impossible.

In so announcing, President Hoover emphasized, however, that the country is so fundamentally sound it can well stand the temporary deficit, and that he would not let it stand in the way of public projects for which appropriations will be asked to give employment to thousands of idle.

Defaulting City Paying in Part

City of West Palm Beach, Fla., which defaulted interest on bonds May 1, has sent to paying agent in New York funds sufficient to pay back interest on direct obligations bonds and also interest due Sept. 1. No provision has yet been made for interest on special assessment obligations.

World's 10 Largest Banks' Deposits $13,868,032,000

Aggregate deposits of $13,868,032,000 are held by the 10 largest banks in the world, according to a compilation by the "American Banker." Of this huge total the British "Big Five" banks account for $7,826,687,000, four American banks account for $5,336,164,000, and the tenth largest bank, a Canadian institution accounts for $705,781,000 states the compilation.

The totals which are for September 24, 1930, the date of the last call by the Comptroller of the Currency for the American institutions, compare with $13,631,532,000 on December 31, 1929. Of that sum the British "Big Five" accounted for $7,794,383,000, the American four $5,072,522,000, and the Canadian institution $764,627,000.

The Chase National Bank again heads the list of the world's largest with deposits of $1,852,295,000 and is closely followed by the Midland Bank, Ltd., London, with deposits aggregating $1,827,804,000.

Lloyds Bank, Ltd., London, is third, while fourth and fifth place goes to Barclays Bank, Ltd., and the Westminster Bank, Ltd., both in London. The National City Bank of New York, which at the end of 1929 occupied third place, is now sixth on the list, while Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, which at the end of last year held sixth position, is now in eighth place.

The National Provincial Bank, Ltd., London, occupies seventh place, a position which it also held at the end of 1929. Continental Illinois Bank Trust Co., Chicago, again occupies ninth place, which it also held at the year end.

7% Investment Return is 16 2-3% greater than 6%—and 40% greater than 5%—well worth realizing!

Your dollars can be made to work for you—bringing to your home, four times each year, checks aggregating a full 7% annually. Like every careful investor, however, you want to be assured of the security behind your investment.

With eleven dominant newspaper properties, having an average age of 46 years, and an established, tremendous earning power—

Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.

7% Cumulative Participating Class A Stock

Preferred as to Assets and Dividends

is an outstanding investment for the saver of funds—whether small or large.

As America's inevitable growth continues, the newspapers comprising this group are in a position to earn even greater profits than those shown in the past. The actual record of earnings for the last four years is the acid test of capability of the management, and the most impressive safeguard of the future. It shows that dividend requirements on the total issue of Class A stock to be presently outstanding were earned well over three times each average year.

Consider well this record:

	EARNINGS (after depreciation, interest and Federal Income Tax)	Dividend Requirements of Class A Stock Offered for Sale
		Amount	Times Earned
1926	$10,009,806	$3,500,000	2.86
1927	10,162,284	3,500,000	2.90
1928	11,044,777	3,500,000	3.15
1929	12,854,626	3,500,000	3.67
Average	$11,017,873	$3,500,000	3.14

Besides this fixed rate of return, 7%, shareholders of Class A stock are entitled to share equally with the common stock in additional dividends declared up to an extra 3%

UPSWING IN WALL STREET RUNS FOR FIFTH DAY

New York, Nov. 15—The stock market came through the end of the week today maintaining its advance from the three-year lows of Monday for the fifth successive day and making one of the most prolonged upward movements of the year.

The day's advances were largely moderate, but the market managed to close with widespread gains of 1 to 4 points, when a week end decline under profit taking on the gains of the past four days was expected in many quarters.

CLOSING IS HIGHER

At the end of the day, the market closed higher, but the advances were small and lacked uniformity. One must go back to the third week of March to find a prolonged advance comparable to this week's, and the gains then were smaller.

The market sold off a little during the first hour, as considerable profit taking appeared in thte coppers, but the reports of large sales of the metal at the new price of 12 cents checked and at the same time, shorts were driven to cover in the motion picture issues, which had been bear targets of late.

A report indicating that steel operations in the Youngstown area would be stepped up from 50 to 52 per cent of capacity next week, presumably reflected increasing activity in the automobile manufacturing industry, was one of the day's most encouraging developments, after the prolonged decline in steel operations.

STEELS ARE HIGHER

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Colorado Fuel & Iron each gained a point, and Republic Steel advanced 2. In the motion pictures, Loew's, General Theaters Equipment, Fox, Warner Bros. and Paramount each gained 2 or more.

Coppers failed to regain their early losses, and Anaconda and American Smelting closed about a point lower.

Shares gaining about 2 to 4 points included Goodyear, General American Tank, Wabash, Missouri Pacific, duPont, J. I. Case and Allied Chemical.

Shares closing up a point or more included American Water Works, International Telephone, Union Carbide, and International Harvester. The closing tone was firm.

Trading was in fair volume, sales aggregating 1,710,000 shares for the two-hour session.

United States Steel showed a recovery of 10½ points from the low price of the week. Big Steel was in good demand today and closed at 147⅞, for a gain of 1 point.

Loew's led the closing spurt of the amusements. The Dow Jones averages show a gain of 2½ points for the industrials and a fractional advance for the rails.

LAMONT GIVES CHEER

The remarks of Thomas W. Lamont at the meeting of the American Academy of Political Science were regarded as reassuring, especially since they constituted the first public discussion of business conditions by a Morgan partner in some time. He said th eprocess of recovery was "already under way."

As had been expected, Chrysler stock had already discounted the cut in the quarterly dividend from 75 to 25 cents. It sold off a little, thn rallied, to close a fraction higher.

The weekly mercantile reviews reported little change in wholesale or retail trade, although unfavorable weather seemed to have been a deterrent to public buying.

While there was no money market today, its condition was clearly shown by the announcement $125,000,000 issue of Treasury bill had gone at an average rate of 1.72, the lowest on record for this type of financing.

Cotton Steady in New York Market

New York, Nov. 15—Cotton futures today closed steady, 5 points lower to 1 higher. December, 10.96; January, 11.18. New contracts—December, 10.95-97; January, 11.13-14; March, 11.43-44; May 11.68-69; July, 11.86; October, 12.06. Spot quiet; middling, 11.10.

NEW DIVIDENDS ARE ORDERED

Connecticut River Power Co. of N. H., a part of New England Power Association, declared regular semi-annual preferred dividend of $3 per share, payable Dec. 1 to stock of record Nov. 14.

Prairie Oil & Gas Co. declared regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents, payable December 31 to stock of record November 29.

International Securities Corp passed the B common dividend and declared a quarterly dividend of 30 cents on the A common, against 75 cents quarterly heretofore, payable December 1 to stock of record November 15. Company has been paying 12½ cents quarterly on the B common. Dividends of $1.20, the new rate on the A common, are covered by estimated net from dividends and interest, excluding profits.

Regular quarterly dividends have been declared on the preferred stocks as follows; A, $1.75; B, $1.50; C, $1.62½; all payable December 1 to stock of record November 15.

Morison Electrical Supply Co., Inc., omitted the usual quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent in common on the common due at this time. Regular quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents on the common was declared, payable December 1 to stock of record November 17.

Grains Are Lower in Chicago Market

Chicago, Nov. 15 — December wheat closed unchangtd to ⅛c off today. Corn, oats and rye were lower.

Sales of Copper on Week-End Are at Peak for Year

New York, Nov. 15—Foreign sales of copper this morning came to roughly 18,000,000 pounds, the largest for over a year. Export sales Friday were approximately 11,500,000 pounds. Total sales on foreign account so far in November total 135,000,000 pounds.

New Stock Market Study Is Given by Col. Ayres

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, prominent economist and vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Corp., in company's Business Bulletin dated Nov. 15, says:

"This bear market for stock prices has been under way in this country and in France for 14 months. In Sweden it has lasted 16 months. In the Netherlands it began 20 months ago, in England 22 months ago, and in Germany 30 months ago, in the summer of 1928. It is a genuinely internatnoal bear market for stocks.

"The prices of the Netherlands are relatively as low as those of Germany, and those of Sweden not quite as low as those of Great Britain. In France and in the United States the declines started at the same time, but prices here have dropped from 100 to 55, while those of France have come down only to 67. 'It is noteworthy that the declines in all the countries were exceptionally rapid in October and November, when our own great deflation was taking place, and that in all six countries rallies were under way in the early months of this year, only to be followed by new and serious declines.

"It does not seem probable that the bottom points of the bear markets in these six countries will be as widely scattered in their timing as their top points were. It appears to be more likely that their bottoms will be much more closely grouped, and that they will be reached shortly after convincing evidence appears of a general stabilization in the wholesale prices of commodities that are important in international trade.

"One conclusion which seems fully justified is that we shall be in danger of making serious mistakes in our thinking if we regard the decline of stock prices as being primarily an American development, and if we base our judgments concerning the probable future of our stock prices solely on an interpretation of the day to day reports of fluctuations on the New York Exchange."

German Exports in Month Larger

Berlin, Nov. 15 (AP)—Germany's exports for October were valued at 1,073,000,000 marks and her imports at 833,600,000 compared with 1,001,000,000 and 736,500,000 for the preceding month. The figures in October, 1929, were: exports 1,247,300,000 and imports 1,106,700,000.

CURB MARKET STOCKS RISE

New York, Nov. 15—Short covering in the utilities and oils kept the curb market pointed higher today. Final prices in these groups represented gains of 1 to 2 points in the active issues, with a few larger advances.

Profit-taking caused quotations to taper off somewhat from the best levels of the active two-hour session, but the recessions were mostly small and the market was strong at the close.

American Superpower and Electric Bond & Share were the leaders, advancing 1 to 2 points, respectively. American Gas & Electric rose 5, and there were gains of a point in Middle West Utilities, American Cities Power B and International Superpower.

Gulf Oil, with a 2-point rally, and Humble, Standard of Kentucky and Vacuum up more than 1, gave evidence that holders of the short position in the pertoleum shares were retreating in view of the improvement in the general market.

BOND MARKET PRICES FIRM

New York, Nov. 15—Prices were generally firm in the bond market today.

Baltimore & Ohio 5s, St. Paul 5s of 1975, Missouri Pacific 5s, Pennsylvania general 4½s, Frisco 4½s and Atchison general 4s improved. Erie 5s of 1967, Northern Pacific 4s and Southern Pacific first 4s drifted lower.

Changes in foreign bonds were narrow. German 7s and Italian 7s were fractionally lower. South Americans were steady.

Offering was made of $1,500,000 Green Mountain Power one-year 4½ per cent notes.

Port of Boston

Two Shipping Board officials of the Merchant Fleet Corp., will be in Boston Monday, studying the local wharfage situation which developed as a result of the recent visit to Washington of a Boston delegation.

The officials are William J. McCarthy, head of the terminal division, and Capt. Frank E. Ferris, operations man.

They plan to obtain first hand opinions of shipping and railroad interests, regarding the proposal that the present Commonwealth Pier wharfage scale be adopted at the local Shipping Board terminal. This is being vigorously opposed by other groups, including the Boston Port Authority, which has recommended to the State Department of Public Works that such wharfage rates be abolished as an aid to shipping.

DOLLAR LAUNCHING

A group of Boston representatives of the Dollar Steamship line will be in Newport News on Dec. 9 to attend the launching of the new liner, "President Hoover." This is the first of two vessels ordered for Pacific service. Mrs. Hoover will sponsor the liner.

BOSTONIANS AFLOAT

On the White Star liner Baltic, due in Boston Sunday afternoon at Commonwealth Pier from Liverpool and Queenstown, are: Miss Sybil Belgrave, Mrs. S. A. Carr, Mrs. L. W. Cleveland, Fred J. Cummin, Mrs. E. Davidson, Miss Peggy Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hallowell, Miss Floyd Jones, Mr. and Mrs. James MacFarlane, H. C. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Phelps and D. O. Powell.

TODAY'S WHO'S WHO

Samuel J. Devlin

The subject of today's "Who's Who in Boston Harbor" is Samuel J. Devlin of Winthrop, deputy collector in charge of the marine division at Boston Customs House.

Mr. Devlin started 33 years ago as a steamer boarding clerk, and about 20 years ago was promoted to deputy collector. His staff of 20 perform one of the most important types of work in the customs service in this district.

This deputy has a world-wide acquaintance, having met masters of ships from many foreign countries. His department handles all the fines and penalties for navigation, immigration and customs matters, and directs the entering, clearing of vessels. The staff deals in all types of marine vessels.

At the age of 18 years, Mr. Devlin came to this country from Ireland and was naturalized early. He has been invited to membership in many clubs, but has a policy of not being a "joiner." His recreations are hiking and swimming.

LESS LOSSES

Figures compiled by the Liverpool Underwriters Association show that sea travel in September was approximately twice as safe as that month of last year. The total losses of vessels was 10 as compared to 22 for September of 1929.

CHURCHES

HERE AND THERE AMONG THE CHURCHES

DORCHESTER WOMEN

On Monday evening, November 17, 1930, the Ladies Aid Section of the Women's Association of Second Congregational Church in Dorchester, will give a mystery comedy, "Chintz Cottage." This will be the second of a series of Codman Guild entertainments this season to be presented in Wales Hall of the church. The ladies in the play are all residents of Dorchester.

WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, has accepted an invitation to serve as honorary chairman of a committee of women who are about to initiate a nation-wide movement in behalf of Washington Cathedral, it was announced Saturday by the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington.

METHODIST MISSIONS

The 112th annual meeting of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held in the Methodist Chapel, 150 Fifth ave., New York City, from November 20 to 22. About 15 bishops from various parts of the United States, 32 leading ministers from as many States and 32 laymen will be present as members of the board.

REV. ALDEN H. CLARK

"The social approach is an open door to India's heart," declared Rev. Alden H. Clark, D. D., Foreign Secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, under which he served for 26 years in India, and who speaks next Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, in the Congregational Church of Waban, Rev. M. C. MacDonald, pastor, on "Crisis and Hope in India."

HOMER GRIMES, EVANGELIST.

Highland Congregational Church, Somerville, H. I. Peterson, pastor, is entering the second week of a three weeks' evangelistic mission under the direction of Evangelist Homer Grimes. Rev. Mr. Grimes is the representative evangelist of the New England Fellowship Conference, and is well known in this section, having been formerly associate evangelist with Dr. George Wood Anderson in a tabernacle campaign in West Somerville several years ago.

MISSION WOMEN.

Episcopal women from many parishes will gather on Wednesday, November 19, at 2 p. m., in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral for the monthly meeting of the diocesan Church Service League. The subject to be presented will be "Putting the Diocese Into Our Program," with Mr. Ralph Barrow as the special speaker. Miss Eva D. Corey will preside and there will be, as usual, a series of speakers presenting "Current Events in the Mission Field."

PAY COMMUNIST FINES.

John S. Codman of the local branch of Civil Liberties declares that the paying of fines recently imposed on two Communists for holding a meeting on Boston Common without license, does not in any way mean that his society believes in Communist doctrines. He declares the fines were paid on the grounds that Boston should not prevent meetings of this sort. Freedom of speech, he says, demands a broader policy.

BISHOP SHERRILL.

Bishop Sherrill will hold confirmation services on Sunday, Nov. 16 in Christ Church, Hamilton, at 11 a. m. and in Christ Church, Andover, at 4 p. m. In the evening at 7:30 p. m. Bishop Sherrill will institute as rector of St. James' Church, Roxbury, the Rev. J. Malcolm-Smith, for many years rector of Trinity Church, Haverhill.

WORLD SERVICE FUND

More than a half a million dollars was cut from the Methodist World Service fund this last year. There was spent by these Methodist world wide activities $7,010,983. The year previous saw a fund larger by $595,617.

FEDERATION ON THE AIR

For Wednesday to Thursday a radio service by the Greater Boston Federation of Churches has been changed. Now every Thursday morning at 9:30 will go out over the air the words of leading clergymen of Greater Boston.

REV. CLEVELAND I. WILSON

There is The First Baptist Church in Chelsea which is drawing large congregations. Last Sunday there were 400 people in the morning, and 600 at the evening service. Tomorrow the pastor believes he will again have few empty pews. He says he has ways of drawing good congregations, and could if asked tell some poorly attended houses of worship a secret or two. "The Eccentricity of Religion" is the subject about which he will preach in the morning and "Our Greatest Birthright" in the evening. The American Order of the Sons of St. George will be guests at the evening service.

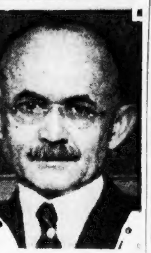
REV. H. BELMONT HILL.

At the First Methodist Church tomorrow evening the lovers of Mark Twain will listen to readings from his works by Dr. Fred Winslow Adams, pastor of the Methodist Trinity Church of Springfield—recently awarded a prize as the most beautiful church in America. Dr. Adams is also head of the homiletics department in Boston University.

His sermon in the evening will be on "My Philosophy of Life."

"Life's Enigma" is the title of a sermon to be preached by the Rev. Harry Belmont Hill in the morning.

Judge Lindsay



Judge Ben Lindsay, one of the most picturesque lawyers in the country, is to speak at Ford Hall this evening and a crowded house is anticipated.

REV. GEORGE LYMAN PAINE.

A union Thanksgiving Day service, under the auspices of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches has been arranged to take place in the Repertory Theater on Huntington ave., 10:30 to 11:30. A large number of Back Bay and downtown churches will join in this occasion. Mr. Paid, secretary of the churches, was unable to secure Symphony Hall this year, as in the past.

DR. JUMP

"Missing the Main Thing." That is the title for a sermon to be preached by the Rev. Herbert Jump at the Union Congregational church tomorrow morning. A congregation is desirous to know what their minister considers the "main thing."

There is in Boston University School of Theology what is known as "The Flying Squadron," made up of young men who assist churches and church schools of many denominations. Tomorrow at the Union church at 5:15 these young men will conduct a Fireside Hour. In the evening a drama talk on "The Conquering Power" will be given by the pastor.

DR. J. BROUGHER

Those church goers who like live and moving topics for sermons will walk to Tremont Temple tomorrow morning and listen to the minister of that church discourse on "Famous Jay Walkers," or "Judging People by Their Walk." It is Dr. Brougher's contention that character can be read by and through the way people walk. How? Go, tomorrow and hear what the preacher of Tremont Temple has to say about it.

Dr. Brougher in the evening will discuss as prelude topics: "Are the Wets Gaining or Losing?" and "Are the Young People of Today Worse than the Young People of Forty Years Ago?" His sermon will be on "The First Runaway Couple."

DISBARRED LAWYER AT FORD HALL.

Judge Ben B. Lindsay, honored by the California bar, comes to Boston to make the first public address at Ford Hall for many years. He is said to have some very pointed remarks to make on "The Dangerous Life." He believes he knows what danger means. A question hour promises to be of unusual interest. The judge is announced as one who has lived a romance of humanitarian achievement.

TRINITY CHURCH, NEWTON

An evening service tomorrow at Trinity Church, Newton Center, has a treat in store in the appearance of the Highland Glee Club, known for their beautiful harmonies. Victor M Cutter has signified his willingness to address the men's club of Trinity next Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock.

SINGING CHURCH

A religious organization which makes as much of music as the Dudley St. Baptist Church is leading the city in enthusiasm and continued attendance. The Rev. Arthur Brooks has learned that music has charms which may be lacking in other forms of ritual. His regular programs are full of cheer. Tomorrow a musical festival, beginning at 7:15 p. m., is to be made up of an all-round request program with a chorus of 50 voices and the Dudley male quartet.

Ninety years is the time since the Twelfth Baptist Church of Roxbury was established. Next week has been set aside by the minister and congregation of this Roxbury colored church for anniversary events. The Rev. W. H Hester, the present pastor, is recognized as one of the leaders among local colored ministers. A general invitation has been sent out for all interested to attend the meetings.

"WAR OF WEALTH."

In a stirring article in the current number of the Commonweal, Mr. A. Lugan enumerates figures to show that the great financial interests of the United States, joined with foreign financial forces, are today approaching absolute rule and control over the lives of men. He states that 272 banking houses now control $12,000,000,000 and he tells of one grocery concern that did last year a billion dollars' worth of business. The article also quotes from one who states that these conditions, the result of the great war, constitute the world's greatest danger.

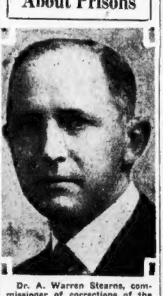
JEWISH GOVERNORS

Oregon and New Mexico have elected Jewish governors. Jews of America who have been dubious about equal opportunity now point to many high offices held by people of their race. The Lieut.-Governor of New York Herbert Lehman received a large majority. The governor of New Mexico is Arthur Seligman, and Julius Meier holds the gubernatrial seat in Oregon.

CONGREGATION AND PASTOR SPLIT ON $2,000,000

Bishop Emory J. Cain of Oklahoma head of the "Church of God," is being sued by his church that he turn over to his people oil lands valued at $2,000,000. Cain claims the right to the property personally.

About Prisons



Dr. A. Warren Stearns, commissioner of corrections of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will speak at the Community Church tomorrow morning at 10:45.

Dr. Stearns at Community Church

"The Individual and His Adjustment to Society" will be the subject of an address by Dr. A. Warren Stearns, commissioner of correction, at the Community Church Symphony Hall, tomorrow.

The service will open at 10:45. Immediately preceding there will be a musical program by the Community Church String Quartet, with Mrs. Roland M. Baker, piano, and Margaret Gorham Glaser, organ. Professor Clarence R. Skinner of Tufts College, leader of the church, will conduct the service and the question period following the address.

CATHOLICS ARE BUSY IN THE HUB

The regular meeting of the Regis College Guild will take place on Tuesday afternoon, November 18, at 2:30 o'clock, at the League House, No. 1 Arlington st., Boston. Rev. Jones L. Corrigan, S. J., will be the speaker.

The League of Catholic Women will hold a food sale at the League House, 1 Arlington st., Boston, on Monday, Novmeber 24, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The proceeds from the sale are to be devoted to making Christmas brighter for little crippled children.

"What does America Owe to Catholics?" will be the subject of an address by Edward W. Joyce tomorrow (Sunday) evening in the Common Cause Forum in the Franklin Union Auditorium. The public is invited.

The doors of Franklin Union, corner of Berkeley and Appleton sts., will open at 7 p. m. and the lecture begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

Under the direction of Mrs. Katherine F. Claugherty, a charity bridge, whist and forty-five party will be held in aid of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, in the school hall, 50 Broadway, South Boston, Monday evening, November 24, at 8 o'clock.

The report of the Home for Destitute Catholic Children for two weeks ending November 6, is as follows:

The regular monthly meeting of the Guild of the Eucharistic Heart will be held at the Convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, 601 Mass. ave., on Sunday, November 16, at 3:30 p. m.

The regular weekly bridge and whist sponsored by St. Vincent's Guild will be held at the Home, 45 Guyette rd., North Cambridge, Monday, Nov. 17. Mrs. Agnes Miano of Somerville, assisted by Miss Ann King, will be the hostesses.

A bridge and whist party will be held at the League House, 1 Arlington st., Boston, Saturday afternoon Nov. 15, at 2:30 P. M., in aid of St. Joseph's Guild for the Aged, 321 Center St., Dorchester. Mrs. C. J. Morrissey will be hostess.

The annual reunion of St. Joseph's parish will take place in the Town Hall, Holbrook, Monday evening, November 24, at 8 o'clock.

UNITARIAN LAYMEN IN PULPITS

Laymen will occupy the pulpits and ministers will sit in the pews of many Unitarian churches throughout the country tomorrow on the occasion of the observance of Laymen's Sunday. The observance is sponsored by the National Unitarian Laymen's League for the purpose of promoting more general thinking and speaking on religious questions among laymen and increasing their interest in the services of their church.

Although in most parishes the sermon will be preached by local men, several pulpits will be filled tomorrow by national officers of the league and other denominational lay executives.

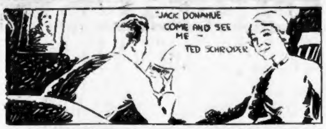
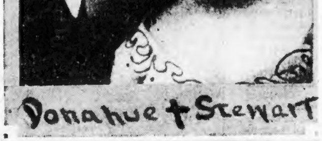
Fame, Romance for Jack



"JACK DONAHUE COME AND SEE ME — TED SCHRODER"

Donahue + Stewart



"MISS STEWART MEET JACK DONAHUE OF CHARLESTOWN"

NO ONE EVER received a more important telegram than the one Jack Donahue read in 1910. It was from Ted Schroder, Boston theatrical booking agent. Jack read it to his mother and at once saw Schroder, who was looking for a dancing partner for Alice Stewart, talented Boston girl. There was an introduction. Jack got the job. Jack got the girl. Jack found fame and happiness right there—for as you must know before this Alice Stewart became his partner on stage and partner in life—for they were soon Mr. and Mrs. Jack Donahue. You here see the couple together in one of their earliest photographs. This photograph was used in their publicity work.

50 CENTS GETS JACK A JOB

"Jack and Alice were married within a year of their start together as a dancing team.

In Jack Donahue's life, that wound by profession through a galaxy of stars and chorus girls, there was never any other woman for him.

As man and wife they continued together as a dancing team for a little more than seven years, when the expected birth of their first child, Alma, now nine, resulted in Alice Stewart's retirement from the stage.

They made their home first in Humboldt ave., Roxbury, and later Jack bought the old Lotta Crabtree house in Atlantic. Later they moved to Brookline, to Sutherland rd., and Fisher Hill.

His Last Visit
The Fisher Hill Home

Jack built the home on Fisher Hill. It was literally "The House That Jack Built," and it marked his first financial investment of any size, the first of many financial ventures spired by his ambitions that were born, not of vanity, but of the wish and will to better the Donahues and to provide for the Donahues.

He always took pride in that Fisher Hill house and after he sold it, on every trip to Boston, he would motor out there with Walter Powers, his old friend, to look it over and learn whether it was being kept up. He always expressed himself as "tickled to death" to see that it was.

His last trip to Boston, made shortly before his death to supervise the "Princess Charming" rehearsals, saw him out on Fisher Hill, looking that house over.

Surrounding his move from that house to one on Long Island there is a funny story, characteristic of Jack's humor off the stage as well as on. We will let him tell it, as he told it six years ago.

MYSTIC BASIN PLAN HELD UP

Until the state submits its plans for the development of the Mystic Valley basin, which will affect Somerville, Malden, Medford, Arlington, Winchester and other communities in that vicinity, federal engineers are unable to proceed with plans for federal work in this area, it was stated today.

Federal engineers had planned to make surveys this fall, but the state's action in providing for a special study of a comprehensive development has resulted in postponement.

It is expected that the state's plans will be filed with the next Legislature early in the session and that work will be started as soon as funds are made available.

The plan is expected to provide for an additional bridge across the Mystic river between Somerville and Medford to relieve congestion on the Wellington and Cradock bridges; elimination of some of the grade crossings on important traffic highways; extension of the present Mystic Valley parkway to connect with the Revere Beach parkway through Everett, and general development of the Mystic river basin.

Boxing Fans to Hold Reunion at Grove

In addition to the dinner and supper shows, the Cocoanut Grove this week will stage a "Miami Night" program when boxing fans and sports writers who journeyed South for the big fights will hold a reunion. In the floor show will be Ray and Rose Lyte, dancers, Billy Payne, tenor, Mickie Alpert and his broadcasting orchestra, and several other entertainers.

On Thursday nights the Grove is host to stage and screen stars.
